SHIPS RUSH TO SAVE EARHART PLANE

Production Of Six Movies Will Start Here Next Month

Kenneth Bishop Announces Plans on Return From Hollywood

Production will start at the Wiflows studios at the beginning of August of the first of a series of six motion pictures, more ambitious in scope than the eight already made during the last two years, Kenneth J. Bishop, president and producer of Central Films Limited, announced today on his return here from Hollywood.

The producer left California immediately after the conclusion of the annual convention of Columbia Pictures, of which Central Films is a subsidiary.

As an outcome of the convention he was able to announce a change of policy with regard to movie production in Victoria. Mr. Bishop has been appointed an executive producer by Columbia, and although Central Films will still retain its identity, there will be a closer tie-up between the parent company and the subsidiary.

CONTINUOUS SERIES

The six pictures which Mr. Bishop announced today will be made in a continuous series, and will keep the studio busy until November or December. The pictures will cost somewhat more than those already made here, and the studio will probably be expanded for their production.

In future the company will seek to avoid westerns and near-westerns, and concentrate more on films for immediate release in the regular Canadian and United States schedules in addition to circulation in Great Britain under the quota regulations. In the past there has often been a delay in the release of Victoria-made pictures.

Mr. Bishop expects to have something in the nature of a permanent staff assigned by Columbia to Victoria, at least for this season's production schedule.

HARRY WEBER PASSES AWAY

Early Citizen of Victoria Dies While Touring California

ARBUCKLE, Calif. (AP) — Harry Weber, 77, of Victoria, B.C., died in a dry creek bed near here when he became lost and injured while seeking the home of an old friend, Coroner J. Deter McNary reported today.

The elderly man, whose body was found today by Floud Tyler, 15, Berkeley, Calif., rabbit hunter, apparently crawled 100 yards along the creek bed seeking water.

Mr. Weber, arriving here by train, had started to walk six miles to the home of E. B. Kinz, orchardist. He apparently lost the trail, Coroner McNary reported, fell over a ledge and injured his leg.

The coroner attributed death to exhaustion and lack of water under a burning sun.

Harry Thomas Weber, 415 Helmcken Street, received word this morning his father Harry Weber died at Arbuckle, California.

Mr. Weber was born in Bavaria and came to Victoria in 1886 where he had resided ever since. Active in club life, he was a member of the Knights of Pythias for 50 years. On his arrival in Victoria the late Mr. Weber was engaged in the tonsorial business for many years and afterwards was a letter carrier for 15 years.

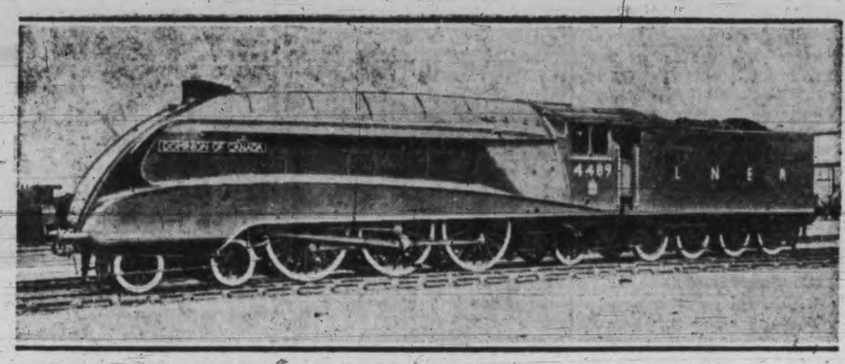
He is survived by four sons, Harry Thomas, Ernest Victor, Leslie Hardy and Hugh, all of Victoria; two daughters, Mrs. M. Deloume of Victoria and Flossie of Portland, Oregon; two sisters, Mrs. Violet Kirbyson of Concord, Calif., and Mrs. Hugh Roetger, and two brothers in Philadelphia.

The remains will be cremated in Sacramento and the ashes forwarded here for interment.

DIES FROM FALL

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Sara Mitchell, 87, died in a hospital Sunday from injuries received in a fall in her home.

"Dominion of Canada" New British Speedster



On a test trip from King's Cross Station in London to Grantham the London and Northeastern Railway's new locomotive "Dominion of Canada," pictured above, last Friday touched a top speed of 109 miles an hour. With four other new streamlined engines named for Dominions, it went into regular service today taking trains between London and Edinburgh in six hours, an average speed of 65½ miles an hour. It is the fastest run in the British Empire. At the left is a glimpse of Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner to Britain, at the throttle of the "Dominion of Canada."

Freighter and U.S. Cutter Near Pacific Spot Where Two Fliers Believed Afloat

"Ragged" Radio Signals Picked Up Today Interpreted as Indicating Earhart-Noonan Plane Drifting 281 Miles North of Howland Island; British Freighter Moorby and U.S. Cutter Itasca Speed to Area

HONOLULU (AP)—United States coastguard officials today wirelessed the British freighter Moorby to change her course and search for the disabled plane of Amelia Earhart and Capt. F. J. Noonan missing since last Friday morning.

The Moorby, only 90 miles north of the position given by messages sent out from the Earhart round-the-world-machine somewhere in the Pacific near Howland Island, was asked to "hurry" to the spot. The freighter was expected to arrive at the place before the United States coastguard cutter Itasca, which was 272 miles away and has a speed of 17 knots.

The coastguard radio operator in Honolulu heard a long modulation transmission on 3,105 kilocycles, at which Miss Earhart at times was believed picked up, but was unable to read the signal.

Coastguard officials, while not inclined to be over-optimistic concerning the new report, pointed out the Itasca was sent to the spot indicated because of a possibility the message was genuine.

NORTH OF HOWLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—A message to coastguard headquarters today said interception of "ragged" radio signals "indicate possibility Earhart plane still afloat 281 miles north of Howland Island."

Sent from the coastguard cutter Itasca at 1.10 p.m. E.S.T. (10.10 a.m., P.S.T.), the message said the bearings taken with a coastguard radio direction finder on Howland confirmed the approximate position of the Earhart-Noonan plane indicated by the garbled radio signals, which were received earlier by the naval station at Honolulu.

"We will arrive at the indicated position about 8.30 p.m. P.S.T.," the message said.

The communication indicated the Itasca was about 150 miles from the designated position when it sent the message, and it was steaming to the position at about 15 knots.

Howland Island is about 50 miles north of the equator and about 177 degrees west latitude.

GARBLED MESSAGE

HONOLULU — United States navy officials said they had received a garbled radio message early today, purported to have been sent by Amelia Earhart, which indicated her plane was sinking.

The message received by three United States navy operators was pieced together as folows:

"281 North Howland call KHAQQ beyond north don't hold with us much longer above water shut off."

The operators said keying of the message was poor and they were able to pick up only fragments of it. It was received between 4.30 a.m. and 5.30 a.m., Pacific Standard Time.

Officials took the message if it was authentic, to mean the plane was about 281 miles north of Howland Island by Miss Earhart's estimate, and sinking slowly, forcing her to stop sending.

Spurred by definite radio signals received earlier, fastest warships of the United States navy sped in search of the aviatrix and Capt. F. J. Noonan, her navigator, who vanished in the lonely equatorial Pacific three days ago.

New Cabinet Member Sworn

G. S. Wismer, K.C., Takes Over Attorney-General's Portfolio

The cabinet of British Columbia was increased to eight ministers today when Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., Vancouver barrister, was sworn in as Attorney-General.

Mr. Wismer took over the role of chief law officer at a Government House ceremony at 11.30 this morning when Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber, just returned from Europe, administered the oath of office.

Mr. Wismer, who was re-elected for Vancouver Centre in the June 1 election, accepted the new duties from Premier Pattullo, who has administered the office since the resignation of Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan on March 31. Mr. Wismer sat as a private member in the last Legislature.

Five members of the cabinet attended the swearing-in ceremony. The members of the benchers, controlling body of the legal profession in the province were present as well as Mr. Justice Sloan, Senator J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., and Col. Eric Pepler, Deputy Attorney-General. Among the benchers were R. L. Maitland, K.C., a cabinet minister in the Tolmie government.

Before this company in the drawing room Mr. Wismer took the three oaths, the first of allegiance to the King, the second as a member of the executive, and the third as Attorney-General.

Man Confesses Child Murders

Albert Dyer Says He Killed Three Children at Inglewood, Cal.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Broken by 11 hours of constant grilling, a 32-year-old street crossing guard paced a cell today after confessing, Detective-Lieut. Leroy Sanderson said, the brutal attack-slaying of three little girls.

By his own words, Sanderson said, Albert Dyer branded himself as the man who strangled Madeline Everett, seven; her sister, Melba, eight, and nine-year-old Jeanette Stephens, and ravished their bodies as they lay in a sandy ravine.

"We shall, of course, ask for the death verdict," said District Attorney Buron Fitts, speaking of Dyer's purported confession, obtained Sunday night. He said he was filing three murder charges against Dyer.

Dyer, employed by the Works Progress Administration to guard children at a street crossing near Centinela Park in suburban Inglewood, broke Sanderson said, when police threatened to take him to Inglewood, where enraged citizens milled about the police

Quebec Village Has Fire Loss

Inn and Two Other Buildings at Val d'Or Destroyed

AMOS, Que. — Flames which originated in a bedroom swept through Mother's Inn, and destroyed two other frame buildings early today in the heart of Val d'Or, 50 miles south of this northern Quebec mining centre.

First word of the fire received in Amos, on the Canadian National Railway's old Transcontinental line about 100 miles from the Ontario border, said the town was without water pumping facilities and there appeared to be little chance of halting the fire.

Bucket brigades of miners and villagers later prevented the fire's further spread.

No Warships Of Germany Now In Mediterranean

East Coast of Spain Now "Wide Open," Eden Tells British Commons

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Eden disclosed today there now were no German warships in the Mediterranean "at all."

He spoke in the House of Commons while informed British observers were predicting a compromise on the Spanish non-intervention question, which is in a deadlock with Italy and Germany on one side and France and Great Britain on the other.

Mr. Eden reviewed the whole "hands off Spain" situation for the House. He said Germany and Italy, by withdrawing their warships from the four power non-intervention patrol had left the east coast of Spain wide open.

POLICY DISCUSSED

Both the cabinet and the Imperial Defence committee met today to consider Britain's future policy in the Spanish civil war and the relationship of the war to her Mediterranean communications.

The meetings came as observers credited Great Britain with stiffening her attitude. Evidence of this was seen in Foreign Secretary Eden's speech last week-end to constituents of his at Coughton, Warwickshire, in which he outlined a two-fold policy:

1—Preservation of Spain for the Spaniards.

2—Maintenance of the "main arterial road" through the Mediterranean.

Some British authorities thought there were indications Germany and Italy might compromise. The two powers have refused to let French and British warships take over the patrol

Free State May Vote Again Soon

Valerists Elected July 1 Are 60; Others 60; Still to Report 18

DUBLIN (CP)—President Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party appeared today to have lost the slender lead indicated in earlier returns.

The government, with 18 constituencies to be heard from, had 60 seats against an identical number for all others in the field.

Labor, with 11 seats, appeared likely to hold the balance of power in the new Parliament. The principal opposition party, William T. Cosgrave's Fine Gael, had 41 seats, while Independents were elected in eight.

The general election was held July 1, but the complicated system of balloting under proportional representation and the inaccessibility of many districts have slowed up the returns.

NEW CONSTITUTION

Latest figures in the plebiscite on the new constitution, held simultaneously with the election, polled a vote of 473,217 for its adoption and 373,676 against.

Observers predicted President de Valera would be unwilling to carry on for long with the aid of Labor, which has been increasingly critical of his administration of late. A new election within six months was predicted in some quarters.

MAN HELD IN MATTSON CASE

Vancouver Police Say He Tallies With Original Description From Tacoma

VANCOUVER (CP) — City police today held Albert A. McIntosh on a vagrancy charge while they questioned him about the kidnap-slaying of 10-year-old Charles Mattson of Tacoma last December.

A "tip" to police led to the man's arest in a hotel room here Saturday night.

Police said that in height, weight, complexion and general appearance he tallied with available descriptions of the Mattson kidnapper.

Among his personal effects were found one-half of a return ticket from Seattle to Vancouver, dated December 27, 1936, the date of the kidnapping, and a Tacoma street car ticket. Although police said he denied ever having been in Tacoma, he was quoted as saying he had formerly lived on "A" Street in Seattle. There is an "A" Street in Tacoma, but none in Seattle.

Police said the man had a Scottish accent. A "foreign accent"

Pioneer Service Flights Attempted Over the Atlantic

FOYNES, Ireland (AP).—The Imperial Airways flying boat Caledonia left the mouth of the Shannon River bound for Botwood, Nfld., on the first trip of a commercial air line over the north Atlantic between Europe and North America, at 7.55 this evening (10.55 a.m., P.S.T.).

Pilot A. S. Wocockson, skipper of the Caledonia, said just before he went aboard the plane:

"I intend to fly on a direct track instead of following the Great Circle course.

"It entails flying 36 miles farther, but it's much easier, as the Great Circle route means working out eight or nine alterations in course."

The airline distance between Foynes and Botwood is about 2,000 miles.

"We are leaving nothing to chance, and all our arrangements are completed in case anything goes wrong, which we think is unlikely," Capt. Wilcockson said.

The great flying boat made the first leg of the flight, 351 miles, from Southampton, Eng., to Foynes, Sunday.

FROM NEWFOUNDLAND

BOTWOOD, Nfld. (CP) — Governor Sir Humphrey Walwyn arrived in this thriving seaport this morning to witness the take-off of the Pan-American Clipper III on an 1,800-mile hop across the Atlantic.

Botwood, a town of 3,000 people, was ready to send off the giant clipper ship to Foynes, Ireland, at the mouth of the Shannon River, and receive another flying boat, the Imperial Airways' Caledonia, from across the ocean.

5,000 People Visit Here Over Week-end

Record Travel From U.S. Points During Independence Holiday

Victoria experienced a record travel influx over the week-end with the United States Independence holiday jamming the ferries plying here from the Washington side.

Customs figures give a total of 3,550 passengers and 530 automobiles arrived here on Saturday and Sunday from Seattle and Port Angeles.

These figures do not include those coming in by the Sidney ferries from Anacortes and through Nanaimo.

With today totals it is expected that fully 5,000 people will have visited Victoria over the American three-day holiday period.

Over 1,000 passengers arrived here from Seattle by C.P.R. steamer Princess Kathleen today, this being the biggest day of the holiday. On Saturday the Kathleen brought in 800 and on Sunday 1,150.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Joan, on the daylight schedule, also carried heavy lists.

Black Ball ferry Olympic, operating three trips daily between Port Angeles and Victoria, and the Iroquois, between Seattle and this port, have been carrying capacity loads of passengers and autos.

A check-up at the customs department this morning gave the following indication of travel to and from Washington mainland points and Victoria on Saturday and Sunday. Inwards, 482 foreign cars, 1,417 passengers, 56 Canadian cars and 134 passengers.

Outwards, 209 foreign cars, 593 passengers, 63 Canadian cars and 170 passengers.

In addition there were some 2,000 foot passengers arriving here by steamer during the two days.

Steel Strikers Reform Lines

Battle Continues at Cleveland and Indiana Harbor; More Plants Reopening

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization's strike legions, urged on by oratorical fireworks, reformed their lines today on the last two remaining strike battlegrounds—Cleveland, Ohio, and Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Troops were moved into Cleveland to preserve the peace when Republic Steel reopens its four large plants here tomorrow.

There were no troops at Indiana Harbor, where the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company is awaiting guarantees of safety for its men before reopening; but there were pleas for troops, and a prediction that "there will be bloodshed if protection is not supplied immediately."

The union's crack orators sought at Independence Day rallies to put new iron into their men's determination to "fight it out."

PIONEER SERVICE FLIGHTS ATTEMPTED OVER THE ATLANTIC

off from Faynes, Ireland, for Newfoundland.

The two giant ships, with their almost simultaneous take-off on initial experimental flights across the Atlantic, are directed by two companies co-operating in gathering data for the inauguration of a regular service.

Members of the Clipper's crew predicted the crossing would take about 12 hours.

After a series of test flights this summer, air mail crossings will be instituted, but no passengers will be carried during the first few months. Opening of the proposed service to passenger travel is expected next spring.

Possibility the two ships might sight each other on the flights east and west was seen.

Route to be traveled by the Pan-American Clipper is approximately the same as that taken 440 years ago by John Cabot when he sailed his vessel, the 50-ton Matthew, for 53 days before reaching America from Bristol.

Newfoundland historians claim Cabot's landfall was made at Cape Bonavista, 100 miles south east of this port, where the initial experimental flight was scheduled to start today in an airship half the size of the Matthew. The Clipper weighs 22½ tons.

The mill at Grand Falls was closed today for the occasion and 2,000 visitors came to Botwood.

A thriving seaport on the well-sheltered mouth of Exploits River, Botwood is surrounded by shrub-covered hills. There is a mile of clear water in all directions for Clipper take-offs and landings.

The Clipper landed here Saturday at 5.18 p.m. after a flight from Shediac, N.B., that had kept it two hours and 18 minutes in the air. Earlier Saturday it had flown from New York to Shediac in four hours and 25 minutes.

The Clipper is fully manned. Any one of five or six officers can fly it. A flight engineer watches the motors. A wireless operator is in regular communication with shore stations. A navigator, with half a dozen different systems to resort to in plotting his position, sits at a table armed with dividers, computing tables and slide rule.

Holiday Deaths In U.S. Total 310

NEW YORK (AP)—Lives lost during the celebration of the United States 161st Independence anniversary stood at 310 early today, with not a single death directly attributed to fireworks.

Automobile accidents Sunday were responsible for 192 of the deaths, drownings 70 and miscellaneous causes accounted for 48.

The Independence Day casualty list, the third largest since 1930, was slightly above the average for the past eight years. From 1930 to 1937 the July 4 deaths were 2,117, an average of approximately 264 deaths per year.

Sunday's toll was slightly below last year's total of 346.

With today being observed as a holiday, further reports of accidents were expected to add to the total.

"Well—I did it," he gasped, Sanderson related. "I had no other motive than sex—it wasn't revenge."

Then Dyer's wife reached his side.

"He never did it," she cried—"he never did it."

On the morning of their deaths Dyer said he played with the girls in the park. It was then, Sanderson asserted, the guard persuaded them to "hunt rabbits" in the nearby hills.

At the appointed hour, Dyer's story continued, "I watched the three girls coming down the road. They dressed in bright colored clothes and looked fresh and nice."

W. W. LEFEAUX HEAD OF C.C.F.

Elected President of Provincial Party, Succeeding Dr. L. Telford

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia section of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation today entered its fifth year with a new president at the head of a revised executive slate.

At evening sessions yesterday, delegates to the annual convention here elected W. W. Lefeaux, Vancouver barrister, who has been prominent in British Columbia labor and socialist movements for 25 years, to succeed Dr. Lyle Telford, M.P.P.-elect, last year's president.

Dr. Telford, elected to the provincial Legislature from Vancouver East riding on June 1, was barred from seeking re-election by a constitutional amendment passed earlier in the day. The amendment barred from presidential office any parliamentary representative of the party.

Arnold Webster, Vancouver school teacher, was chosen first vice-president, and Dr. Telford was elected second vice-president.

Herbert Gargrave, secretary of the provincial party last year, was named secretary-treasurer, now a paid position.

Although ball games were very popular among ancient Mexican Indians, not one rubber ball they used has ever been discovered; but two such balls have been found in Arizona.

PRODUCTION OF SIX MOVIES WILL START HERE NEXT MONTH

The development of the movie business here has been helped forward by the success of "Women Against the World," starring Ralph Forbes and Alice Moore, produced at the Willows in February last. The picture has been acclaimed in Hollywood as an excellent piece of work for a small studio.

Central Films' sound equipment, which was sent to Hollywood earlier this summer for overhaul, is coming back completely modernized, Mr. Bishop said. The addition of ultra-violet light equipment has brought it into line with the latest apparatus of its type. The ultra-violet recording, only recently adopted in Hollywood, eliminates any suggestion of whistle or boom in resonant voices.

was ascribed to the Mattson suspect.

McIntosh registered at the hotel June 29, and was said never to have left his room since that date, although no food was sent in to him. Late at night he was heard pacing the corridors.

Conflicting answers led police to consider a medical examination might follow his arrest. On one occasion he gave his age as 37, and a few minutes later said he was 46.

McIntosh said he had come from Ashcroft, an interior British Columbia town, and produced several letters to substantiate his assertion.

5,000 PEOPLE VISIT HERE OVER WEEK-END

So heavy was the return movement today that the C.P.R. was forced to operate two steamers on the 5 sailing this afternoon for Seattle.

The Princess Marguerite and Princess Victoria will sail at that hour for Seattle.

"It's a pity we haven't elastic-sided ships,' said an official of the company.

HOTELS FULL

The rush of United States visitors was felt as keenly as anywhere in the city's hotels.

Of the 250 people who registered at the Empress Hotel yesterday more than 200 were from the United States, chiefly the Puget Sound area but witn many names from Oregon and a good number from further afield.

All the available rooms in the hotel were filled during the afternoon. At present the Empress has accommodation for about 470 people. There are other rooms, which could take another 200, but which are not normally kept open.

The heaviest rush in many years was reported by the Dominion Hotel, which had to turn away visitors from 2 in the afternoon onwards. Strathcona Hotel had to close its books at 2.30 with a full house. Other hotels told the same story. There were few empty beds in Victoria last night.

Twenty of the overnight visitors were unwilling ones. They had taken a bus trip out to Butchart's Gardens, and the mass of traffic there was so thick the bus was delayed and missed the connection with the evening boat to Seattle.

Accommodation for automobile tourists is being found in private homes, with camps filled to overflowing, one proprietor said this morning. Almost all available auto camp space in the neighborhood of Victoria is filled, with proprietors co-operating to place tourists.

All tourists are being accommodated, but many are being directed to homes in the city with facilities for transient guests.

Last year at this time only three camps of the several around Victoria were full. Since then a few new camps have been built along the highway, indicating that business this year is far in advance of previous years.

SHIPS RUSH TO SAVE EARHART PLANE

ward tiny Howland Island from California.

A battleship ploughed southward from Honolulu to aid the coastguard cutter Itasca in its search of the unfamiliar Howland waters, where Miss Earhart and Capt. F. J. Noonan disappeared in her $80,000 globe-circling plane last Friday. In response to instructions broadcast by Station KGMB here early today, four distinct breaks in a carrier wave on Miss Earhart's frequency were reported to the coastguard by Pan-American Airways' listeners.

The broadcast instructions said: "Earhart plane. Come in one 3,105 kilocycles. Use key or voice. Key preferably. Put transmitter on one minute then take off and turn on four times. . . . Follow these instructions immediately after this broadcast."

The four distinct breaks followed quickly, the coastguard said.

The wave was heard in 3,105 kilocycles, one of three wave lengths assigned to the famous flier's plane.

It came while radio listeners all around the Pacific and far inland sought anew to catch unexplained distress signals, voices and "squeals" which for two nights had buoyed hopes the missing round-the-world aviators might be calling for aid.

WEAK MESSAGE

The last previous call in the series of mysterious radio signals was reported late Sunday night from Cincinnati, Ohio, where an amateur said he had recognized Miss Earhart's voice weakly pleading for aid from a position he interpreted to be within 57 miles of Howland Island.

The Lexington, carrying its brood of 57 planes, and four destroyers, the Cushing, Perkins, Lamson and Drayton, sped to the rescue under forced draught. But with a possible refueling stop in Hawaii, it was estimated five or six days would be needed to reach the Howland area.

The battleship Colorado, pushing southward from Honolulu, was over 500 miles on its 1,500-mile journey to aid the Itasca, carrying on the search alone in the face of dwindling supplies of fuel for its engines and water for its crew.

Aboard the Colorado were three naval planes, which officials indicated would join the search as soon as the battleship is within striking distance of the area north and east of Howland in which the hunt is centred.

In all more than 4,000 men are aboard vessels speeding to rescue the aviatrix.

CALIFORNIA REPORT

At Santa Paula, Calif., Walter McMenamy, Los Angeles amateur radio operator, who repeatedly has announced interception of radio messages from Miss Earhart, said he heard her voice again at 5.40 a.m. P.S.T. today, followed four minutes later by that of her navigator.

"Reception was terrible because of static, but I could make out Miss Earhart saying "KH"—the start of her call letters—KHAQQ. I have heard her voice over the radio before. I am positive it was hers," said McMenamy.

"At 5.44 I heard a man's voice, Captain Noonan's, I am sure. I could make out 'QQ' but not much else. He talked for a long time, apparently explaining at great length his location. It sounded as if he had his hand over the microphone and was . . . Then the radio began to fade."

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—Three long dashes on radio key transmission received at 5 a.m. P.S.T. on the wave length assigned to Amelia Earhart were declared today by Paul Mantz, her technical adviser, to be the most hopeful sign yet received that she is alive and on land.

soaked rally at Johnstown, Pa., Sunday, and tell the cheering strikers and sympathizers: "You don't need acts of violence when you have Franklin Delano Roosevelt in Washington, a liberal Congress and a governor like me."

SECRET POLL

A committee of six ministers of Indiana Harbor telegraphed Governor Townsend of Indiana they had conducted a secret poll of steel workers in the Calumet area, which includes the mills of both Indiana and Illinois around Lake Michigan, and that these two questions were asked:

"Do you want to return to work with safety?"

"Do you want to remain on strike pending the signing of the contract requested by the C.I.O."

The ministers reported that 86.8 per cent of the steel workers favored "return to work with safety," and 13.2 per cent wanted to remain on strike.

The ministerial committee, which was non-sectarian, told the Governor "the situation is entirely out of control," and "there will be bloodshed if protection is not supplied immediately."

From another source, the "Association of Steel Employees"—an independent, non-strike union of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. workers—the Governor was importuned to send troops. The Sheet and Tube Co. is ready to reopen, it announced, as soon as authorities provide protection for the workers, a majority of whom, according to the company, have expressed a desire to return to work at the concern's East Chicago, Ind., plant, employing about 6,000 men.

areas abandoned when they charged the Spanish government had attacked their control ships.

LARGE INVESTMENTS

Great Britain must give increased consideration to Gen. Franco's successes in the Spanish areas where British interests lie.

British capital has heavy investments in the conquered mines around Bilbao and formerly imported one-third of their output. Franco may divert that ore to Germany and Italy.

The area surrounding Gibraltar—vital gateway to the East—is also in Franco's hands.

Should the patrol question be put to a vote when the full Non-intervention Committee meets later in the week, there seemed little doubt today an overwhelming majority of the 27 nations would vote for continuance of the patrol to isolate the war, as suggested by France and Great Britain.

GYPSY KING IS CROWNED

WARSAW—Wearing borrowed finery, Janusz Kwiek, 52, was crowned King of the Gypsies of the world in the Polish army stadium here Sunday.

The new king, whose predecessor, Matthias Kwiek, shot himself accidentally during a family argument, was the first Gypsy monarch to be crowned in Poland since the 10th century.

After his coronation, during which he wore the ermine-bordered mantle usually reserved for the role of King Lear in the Warsaw Municipal Theatre, King Kwiek told reporters he would go to Italy to ask Mussolini for permission to found a Gypsy state in Ethiopia. He added he was sending telegrams to the heads of all states announcing his election.

In an effort to find the traditional wanderers a homeland, King Kwiek said he would petition the Polish foreign minister to urge his government to bring the Gypsies' cause before the League of Nations.

New Yorker Shot As Party Ends

NEW YORK — A woman's laughter was the accompaniment early Sunday to the pistol shots which killed 24-year-old John Kirby at the end of a gay night in Greenwich Village.

Kirby was shot through the heart as he strolled down a village street with four other men and two women. Police investigators found a passerby who said he had seen one of the party draw a gun and threaten Kirby. One of the two women laughed loudly, police said they were told, and at the same time the man with the gun fired four times.

Palestine To Be Divided In Three

Commission Urges Jewish State, British Mandate and Arab State

LONDON (CP) — Jewish sources asserted today the British Royal Commission's report on Palestine, expected to be made public this week, will recommend division of the Holy Land into three parts—a Jewish state, a permanent British-mandated area and an Arab state.

The report will go to the League of Nations mandates commission for decision on the future status of Palestine, where Jews and Arabs have battled periodically for years.

The commission investigated the situation after last year's Arab general strike in opposition to continuance of Jewish immigration to Palestine and ownership of land by Jews and the widespread disorders attending it. Britain supervises Palestine under a League mandate.

GALILEE VALLEY

Jewish informants outlined the commission's plan as follows:

The Jewish state will comprise the upper and lower Galilee valley; the Esdraelon coastal plain from Raselnakura in the north to Beertuvia in the south; the greater part of the Beisan area and the towns of Haifa, Safed, Acre and Tiberias.

The British area will include Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Nazareth, as well as a corridor on either side of the Jerusalem-Jaffa road by which Arabs would have access to the port of Jaffa.

The remainder of the country will constitute an Arab state, to be joined to Transjordania, a British-mandated Arab nation to the east.

The Jewish sources added:

Some 250,000 Arabs live within the boundaries of the proposed Jewish state, and there are many Arabs in the four cities which would remain under British mandate.

The Arabs in the mandated area would not be required to assume Jewish citizenship as long as British control exists.

Great Britain would propose treaties with Arab and Jewish organizations to establish the independence of the two states. She would make a grant of £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) to the Arab state, plus an additional contribution of an unspecified amount toward the cost of transporting the Arab population from the Jewish state to Transjordania.

During the transition period, Great Britain would continue to direct administration of all the Holy Land and would regulate Jewish immigration to the Jewish state according to its capacity.

MILITARY MEASURES

JERUSALEM—Military authorities, it was learned here, have printed martial law placards and leaflets containing emergency regulations as part of precautions for dealing with any trouble following publication of the royal commission's plan for Palestine.

TEMPERATURE 106 AT MEDICINE HAT

WINNIPEG — Blistering heat scorched parts of the prairies Sunday. Medicine Hat, Alta., was the hot spot with the mercury at 106 degrees.

The searing sun sent the temperature soaring to 104 at three Saskatchewan points, Moose Jaw, Swift Current and Saskatoon, and it was 102 at Regina and at Battleford.

On western and eastern borders of the prairies the weather was more moderate, but Calgary reported a high reading of 90 degrees and Edmonton 84. At Winnipeg it was also 84.

Rain was badly needed throughout the plains as crops suffered under the sun's burning rays.

TWO BOYS DROWNED

NAZI-CHURCH CRISIS NEAR

Cardinal Faulhaber Says Final Battle Approching in Germany

BERLIN — A Catholic archbishop told his congregation on Sunday "the final battle is approaching" in church-state conflict, and a Protestant congregation avowed support of its arrested pastor.

Cardinal Michael von Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich, cited the arrest last month of a Jesuit priest on charges of criticizing the government as evidence "the fight for annihilation of the Catholic church has entered a new phase."

He asserted "the final battle is approaching" and that "we don't hear any more about Bolshevism as public enemy No. 1—it's only the churches which are referred to as such now."

(Catholics are in dispute with the Reich over the right to direct education of Catholic youth, contending the Reich-Vatican concordat has been violated on this point.)

Rev. Martin Niemoeller's Protestant Confessional Synod congregation crowded his Dahlem church to hear a substitute pastor defend his integrity and patriotism.

Their petition for submission to the Ministry of Justice declared the arrested pastor had at no time revolted against the state, but fought always for maintenance of the Christian faith. He was jailed last Thursday on a charge of "making false statements and inciting to disobedience in state institutions."

PRISON TERMS

KOENIGSBERG, Germany—Four Roman Catholic priests face prison terms ranging from one to three years following their conviction Saturday on charges of "rebellion" growing out of their holding the traditional Corpus Christi services at Heilsberg May 27 in defiance of a government ban.

Six Catholic laymen were sentenced to terms ranging from six months to a year for participating in the services.

Chancellor Bucholz, arch-priest of the Heilsberg diocese, was sentenced to three years in prison. Abbe Szinscztski to two and a half years; Abbe Hippel to two years and Abbe Jordan to one year.

Police Force Gathers Weeds

CHICAGO — With weeds much in evidence in the Irving Park police station lawn, Capt. Herbert Burns ordered his 125 policemen to pluck one every day before reporting for duty. Now, says Sergt. Michael Noonan, the following conversation takes place:

"You've brought your weed?"

"I have indeed."

"O.K.—Proceed."

Portugal Head Escapes Bomb

Premier Salazar Covered With Dust, But Not Injured By Explosion

LISBON—Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar escaped injury Sunday in an apparent attempt on his life.

A bomb which exploded in a sewer under the sidewalk as he was leaving his automobile to attend mass in the private chapel in a home of a friend, shattered windows 100 yards away, but only covered the Premier with dust. There were no casualties. A large stretch of pavement was torn up.

Persons who ran to the spot found the Premier and his secretary calmly dusting off their suits. A large crowd cheered as they entered the chapel, windows of which were shattered.

Police said the powerful bomb had been deliberately fired with an electric charge, but had exploded sidewise instead of in such a manner as to wreck the Premier's car.

Salazar, strongest man in the present Portuguese government, has been Premier, Minister of Finance, War and Foreign affairs since January 19, 1936.

There have been rumblings of anti-government activity within Portugal while the country for the past year has been gravely concerned by the Spanish civil war at its border.

A group of bombs exploded in several public buildings near and in Lisbon in January. Five were wounded by one projectile in the war ministry.

Modelled on the corporate state of Italy, the Portuguese government has endorsed the insurgent regime of General Francisco Franco in Spain and last week withdrew its land patrol on the Spanish frontier following Italy and Germany's action in withdrawing from the four-power naval patrol.

FIVE-DAY STRIKE WON BY GEISHAS

KISARAZU, Japan (AP)—Kisarazu's 100 geishas won their five-day strike today, but the results of victory were only about one cent each working hour.

Nevertheless the little girl singing and dancing entertainers and their friends celebrated with lantern parades, fireworks and drinking parties what they considered the success of the strike, staged on the stone floor of a hilltop Buddhist temple.

The girls said they were overworked and poorly paid. A mediation committee, the temple's high priest, the chief of police and the town headman, ruled that geisha fees be increased from about 9 to 62 cents a "hon"—the time it takes a stick of incense to burn, about two hours.

But since two-thirds of the increase goes to geisha house owners and restaurant keepers the girls' gain was only a cent a "hon."

The geishas only recently won a sit-down strike for recognition of their guild.

Twelve Victims Of Car Crashes

Notifiable diseases accounted for 170 deaths in British Columbia during May this year, according to the monthly report of the B.C. Department of Health. Cancer claimed 87 lives; tuberculosis 44, pneumonia 20, influenza 10, measles five, cerebrospinal meningitis two, typhoid fever one and whooping cough one.

Under the heading of special classes of diseases causing death during the month, 37 children under one year of age died. Motor accidents accounted for 12 and puerperal deaths (all types) two.

HIGH COST IS BARRIER

Experts Say Average Citizen Not Yet Ready to Cavort in Skies

NEW YORK—Men who know the ins and outs of the flying business looked over the field of air travel today and concluded it will be a long time before the average citizen can cavort around the skies in his own machine. It costs too much.

The United States government argues mass production would bring private flying within the reach of a substantial majority of the population. The manufacturers reply neither the airplane nor the public is ready for mass production and the available market would not warrant the investment.

The problem of flying for everybody divides itself into cost, safety and human qualification. Investment and operation cost of a standard light airplane for a year will run probably to $2,500.

The government and the private manufacturers are at logger-heads over the principal barrier to flying for everybody—cost. The Bureau of Air Commerce, at least in the past, has seen no good reason for a citizen's inability to buy and operate a light airplane for perhaps $1,400 a year.

In the face of opposition from private manufacturers, the government proposed three years ago to turn out low-priced light airplanes, but an appropriation under the auspices of the public works administration never materialized.

The representative of one manufacturer, surveying a fabricating field which included both conventional and "windmill" or autogyro flying machines, commented:

"We have yet to do a lot with our ships before we are satisfied to put them before the public. Just anybody can't fly. It would be a severe setback to the cause of aviation if we put a lot of ships in the air and incompetent pilots cracked them up."

Canadian Message To U.S. On July 4

OTTAWA—Independence Day greetings on behalf of the People of Canada were sent to President Roosevelt by Lord Tweedsmuir Sunday. The Governor-General dispatched the message as he passed through Ottawa on his way from Quebec to Winnipeg, where he will begin an extensive tour of the northwest. The message addressed to the President, "the White House, Washington," read:

"On behalf of the people of Canada on this day of national rejoicing I would offer the cordial and sincere greetings of our neighbors and friends."

Wake up! Get up
PARENTS! Travelling this summer? Take ENO with you. It "settles" car, train and sea sickness and those digestive disorders resulting from changes in food, water and routine.
There's just one thing to remember when you send your boys and girls off to camp. It's this: Abrupt change in food, drinking water and habit usually upsets regularity . . . and can offset the good effects of sunshine and fresh air. So into their kit pack a bottle of Eno's "Fruit Salt." A dash of Eno in a glass of water, taken first thing every morning, induces natural regularity, without forming habit . . . a safe, pleasant way to ensure a completely healthy holiday, as the Camp Director will agree . . . for most Camp Directors recommend ENO and take it themselves.

John Bull's Jaw Set

DEVELOPMENTS OVER THE WEEK-end in Europe indicate that neither Great Britain nor France is in the mood to be dictated to by either Germany or Italy. In his speech at Coughton (that Warwickshire hamlet where some of the Guy Fawkes plotters took refuge) on Saturday, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden made it clear that His Majesty's government stood relentlessly for the preservation of "Spain for the Spaniards" and the maintenance of the "main arterial road" through the Mediterranean. A few miles away, at Birmingham, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain let it be known that his chief aim is to make his country so strong that "nobody dare treat her with anything but respect."

It is tragic that this has to be the attitude of a peace-loving nation in this year of grace, 1937, but the peppery peoples of Continental Europe have forced the issue. There does not appear to be any disposition in Britain to believe that Reichsfuehrer Hitler is playing fast and loose with his country's policies as they relate to the civil war in Spain, apart, of course, from a quite natural objection to interference with Reich ships in Spanish territorial waters. But it follows that the four principal powers—Britain, France, Germany, and Italy—who are representing the 27 power non-intervention committee, must expect "incidents" and prepare to deal with them in such a way as not to provoke more serious incidents.

There is nothing to quarrel about in the declaration of Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Eden as they state without the slightest equivocation that Great Britain will not tolerate the violation of Spanish territorial integrity, or any move which might become a threat to free passage through the Mediterranean. In this attitude France naturally has a direct interest and stands solidly behind her ally.

A disturbing factor is to be found in the suggestion from London today that Great Britain may find it necessary to give consideration to insurgent General Franco's successes in the areas in Spain where British interests lie—where heavy British capital is invested, for example, in the mines around Bilbao, which formerly sold one-third of their output to Britain, and which, it is intimated, General Franco may divert to Germany and Italy. Then again, the area surrounding Gibraltar—that vital gateway to the East—now is under the control of the Spanish rebel leader.

This sordid aspect of the sorry business of Spain's civil war is to be deplored. Running against the grain of every sane person is the hope, however, that Britain and France will tell Germany and Italy that if they rock the European boat any more, they must expect trouble with which they will find it difficult to deal. Such a warning ought to be sufficient to stave off a colossal blunder, the consequences of which would baffle the most astute clairvoyant.

Our Gold Exports

ACCORDING TO THE LATEST ISSUE of The Statistical Summary of the Bank of Canada, the principal exports of gold have been going to the United States ever since the beginning of 1936. Since July, 1936, the bank's table of gold exports does not show any exports of the metal to England at all, but shows regular monthly exports to the United States running from a little under $5,000,000 worth to as high as $13,500,000 worth a month.

During the whole of 1936 the gold exports to the United Kingdom amounted to $12,000,000, and to the United States $73,000,000. In addition, $47,000,000 in gold was "earmarked" for foreign account, bringing the total to $132,000,000. Thus far this year, the first quarter, there have been no gold exports to the United Kingdom, while those to the United States have amounted to $21,400,000, and $7,100,000 have been earmarked, making the total gold exported and subject to export $28,500,000.

From some of these figures it would seem that Canada is taking little or no part in the efforts of England or the United States to stem the flow of gold on to the world market. From the latest weekly statements of the Bank of Canada it might be suggested that the decline in the bank's gold reserves in recent weeks have been compensated by a rise in the bank's holdings of sterling and United States dollars, those holdings having risen from $13,388,003 on May 5 to $22,503,722 on June 16, an increase of $9,115,719.

While the later figure might be compared with the decrease in the bank's gold holdings of $7,755,856 since the high point of April 14, there is no definite evidence to show that the bank has increased its currency holdings with the gold so liquidated rather than with new gold recently acquired. It may be pointed out, for example, that between the statements of April 28 and May 5 the bank's gold reserve decreased some $2,000,000 and its holdings of sterling and dollars also decreased to the extent of over $2,757,000. Thus without official explanations from the bank itself—which it is rarely willing to give—the conclusions to be drawn from changes in the items on its weekly statements of assets and liabilities must be limited to generalities.

Required Reading

NO ASPECT OF LIFE UNDER A DICtatorship looks funnier to persons who live under a democracy, than its newspapers. One of the funniest developments of all is reported from Berlin where a law journal seriously suggests that under Nazi law it may be a misdemeanor to fail to read the daily newspaper.

It seems that in many trials, witnesses and defendants have pleaded ignorance of some Nazi rule or edict because they had not been reading the papers. The courts are showing annoyance over this and are instructing all such persons to mend their ways instanter.

Such a rule under the circumstances in Germany is quite logical. For what inducement is there to read the newspapers in a land where every journal is under the thumb of a government ministry of propaganda, where all the news is filtered and colored and no writer dare disagree with the dictator? If a country is going to have newspapers of that kind, it might as well go the rest of the way and have a law forcing people to read them. Otherwise, a constantly increasing part of the populace is apt to leave them entirely alone.

Machine Age Moves North

AN OBSERVANT SUMMER VISITOR just returned from Alaska emphasizes how inescapable even in the most distant and isolated spots is the problem raised by man's invention of machinery.

In the sub-Arctic town of Petersburg this visitor found a man who believes he has perfected a shrimp-packing machine. Shrimps are relatively tiny creatures that come from the waters along this coast encased in little shells. Getting them out of the shells so they can be canned has always been strictly hand work and many persons get employment every year at the canneries doing this work.

But this Petersburg man has spent ten years developing a machine to do the work. He is now installing in his cannery ten such machines. Each machine, which may be likened to the "iron chink," familiar to visitors to our salmon canneries in the ingenious way in which it cleans and prepares the fish for canning, does the work formerly done by 10 men.

The result is that even a small fishing village in Alaska, which we might think would be one of the last places in the world to be bothered by "technological unemployment," is getting a taste of the machine age. Indians and others, who, before this, could rely on a season of steady work will have to find something else to do, because machinery has advanced one more little step along the road toward the obsolescence of human labor.

This development has been proceeding elsewhere on such a huge scale in the last few decades that the Alaska instance might appear relatively insignificant. However, it is a grim little signpost, reminding us that for better or for worse, the replacement of human labor by machine labor is continuing. It is not merely a problem of the big city; it is something that affects far-away fishing villages just as it affects big manufacturing centres.

It is useless to waste time bemoaning this development, as we would not stop it if we could. For, in the long run we know it cannot be anything but a tremendous boon to the race as a whole. Mankind is being relieved of drudgery; the mean, monotonous, back-breaking jobs that once were part of the universal human lot are being lifted off his back.

Of course, the difficulty is we reap the temporary disadvantages of the process ahead of the permanent advantages. It is hard to rejoice during the adjustment period over relief from drudgery when at the same time one is relieved of the chance to earn a living. The man who is put into a breadline by a machine may be pardoned for viewing the machine's blessings with a jaundiced eye. Our job in this age of transition is to learn how to translate the machine's achievements in terms of the well-being of the entire community.

Generals don't die in bed in Russia, as The Winnipeg Free Press remarks, even in these days of nominal peace there. Nine, according to news from the Muscovite front, have just been put to death in the honorable but none the less lethal style reserved for military traitors. Sudden disappearance of nine generals would leave the average army pretty short of high-class strategists, but maybe Russia, under the five-year plan, has a good supply coming up.

BUDAPEST.

LIBERTY

"COME," said Ludovic. "We walk. The Avenue of the Liberty, I show to you."

The Avenue of Liberty is a noble street, wide, gracious, lined with trees. The only thing it lacks is any liberty at all. In the middle of it is a curious bed of flowers. It has been planted to form a map of Hungary, and around the present borders of the country are shown, in flowers of a different color, the old, pre-war boundaries.

"There," said Ludvic, pointing with his bamboo cane, "are the country you 'ave take from us. We do not forget. We get it back some day."

The map of flowers, placed there by Admiral Horthy's government, is a kind of public declaration that Ludvic is right, that Hungary still regards herself as the rightful owner of Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia and some day will take them back. Half of Europe is living in the same hope.

THIEVES

"WE ARE clever people," said Ludvic. "We have good gover'ment also—a republic, you know, with a dictator to run it, and all the police come from the villages where they have no politics and they put the Communists in jail quickly. My people, it is true, are much thieves. Do not trust them, not with a pengo. If you would make buy, come to me or you will be robbed. But we are clever. You British, you are so stupid—but so big. Some day you wake up. But I like you. It is the damn Czechs and Jugoslavs. The Turks, they are no good neither, and the Greeks they are as dirty as hell, sir."

So it goes. The little nations will not settle down. They try to maintain, as here in Hungary, absurd little airtight compartment, refusing to trade with each other, trying to live alone without the means of life, juggling with their currency, creating all sort of weird money, quotas and restrictions.

And out on the flat Danubian plains the peasants, who might be prosperous if the little nations would co-operate as neighbors, are withered by sun and toil. You can see them trudging behind their brown oxen, with the four-foot horns, or cutting their vast wheat fields by hand, and their naked children play in the dust of their white-walled, sun-baked villages, or wallow in the brown backwaters of the Danube. From dawn to dark you can see them at work, men and women, on the hard clay land where the red poppies are like a smoldering fire across the grain, or gathering a few cherries from the trees that line all the roads—a poor, friendly, simple people, who stand and wave at your passing car, wondering dimly about the strange world you have come from.

It is not for them to say what the dictators shall do. They do not know what plans are afoot in Horthy's green-domed palace about the river. Theirs only to swing clumsy scythes, to carry rifles when the time comes.

"Some day," said Ludvic again, pointing to the flower bed with his cane, "we get it all back. Then I and everybody has good job again. And now," he added, wetting his lips, "I think you are thirsty for a beer."

SUCH PEOPLE

From a New York Correspondent

ARTISTIC temperaments:

Sinclair Lewis moves to strange cities when he is writing a novel.

Bert Lahr smokes one cigarette after another.

Jim Tully bites his nails.

Leon Trotzky doesn't permit gum-chewing in his presence.

Lily Pons won't enter a room if the people in it are smoking.

Fannie Brice insists that her name be spelled "Fannie" on the marquee, although at all other times it is "Fanny."

Fannie Hurst refuses to autograph her books.

Charlie Chaplin hates to remember names.

Noel Coward doesn't care to hear Ivor Novello, his rival in versatility, praised.

PLIGHT OF THE EDITORS

From The Regina Leader-Post

It seems as if every organization in the country is pouring information or propaganda of one kind or another into the newspaper offices. Leagues for this and that, from the League of Nations to others that are working to stop bagpipe playing at twilight recitals, to prevent cats from climbing down trees headfirst and to keep brunette hairs from getting into the butter, have sprung to arms.

The mining and stock brokers' offices are also pouring out their bargains in yards of neat printing while the Society for the Assistance of Worms with Fallen Arches also sends in its weekly circular. Then there are the folk who want to save the world in a big, general way and the others who put pen to paper to give advice to their neighbors.

Because of the tremendous inflow of printed material the job of editors has largely become one of seeing how fast the stuff can be heaved off. But many are failing to keep up with the job. They go out to get a cup of coffee and a bun and when they get back they are swamped again.

HOW IT IS DONE

From The Montreal Financial Times

Rather than accept the offer of makers to equip Montreal police autos with new engines at $200 per unit, the city executive turned the job over to the municipal garage, where the cost was $1,200 to $1,800 per car—or much more than the first cost of the cars. Which is a fair idea of how things are done at Montreal's City Hall.

OPTIMISTIC YOUTH

A pessimist was ranting on the shortcomings of the rising generation. "Where today," he demanded, "can you find a youngster who will just go on smiling when everything is wrong?" Replied a more optimistic friend, "Out on the golf links this afternoon, carrying my clubs."

Six Cities Conquer Diphtheria, Typhoid

Six large cities have the proud record of no deaths from either diphtheria or typhoid fever during the past year.

These honor cities are Cambridge and Somerville Mass., Syracuse and Utica, N.Y., Duluth, Minn., and Salt Lake City, Utah. Nineteen cities had no deaths from diphtheria during 1936 and 18 had none from typhoid.

The Journal of the American Medical Association announces this week its annual survey of diphtheria deaths in the 93 cities from which it has obtained death rates for the last 14 years.

Back in 1923, when surveys began, the average mortality rate from diphtheria was 13.13 per 100,000 population. Today it is 1.51 per 100,000, owing to the preventive programmes.

The 19 cities that had no diphtheria deaths during 1936 are as follows: Albany, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica, N.Y.; Cambridge and Somerville, Mass.; New Haven, Conn.; Wilmington, Del.; Elizabeth, Newark, and Trenton, N.J.; Erie, Pa.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Duluth and St. Paul, Minn.; Kansas City, Mo.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Spokane and Tacoma, Wash.

"—SO GOES THE DIGEST"

From The New York Post

The Literary Digest, until three years ago a remarkably accurate index of public opinion, has passed into the hands of the Albert Shaws, father and son, to be merged with their Review of Reviews.

They bought the Digest, it is said, for a "song."

But the Digest was "sold out" long before. For some mysterious reasons its old impartiality—the quality that built its circulation at one time to 1,500,000—was lacking in Digest straw polls after 1934.

Until then its canvass of popular preference enjoyed enormous, well-deserved prestige.

National elections for more than a decade conformed closely with Literary Digest calculations.

Perhaps a change in the editorship in 1933 was reflected in the "trick" questions which began to supplant the old unbiased, straight-forward inquiries placed on the straw ballots. By July, 1935, its circulation had fallen to 600,000—the lowest since 1917.

Nor did the magazine thrive on the results of last year's Presidential straw poll, showing 36 states opposed to the New Deal, an error of 34 states, or nearly 95 per cent.

Two tiny states alone "obeyed" the prophecy of a Landon landslide. And, alas, as Maine and Vermont went—

So goes the Digest.

GERMANY'S USEFUL FRIEND

Charles H. Huestis in The Toronto Star

The Nation devotes a considerable part of its current issue to telling the story of the effort being made by Germany to disseminate Nazi ideology in England, America and Spain. This effort seldom seeks to become a mass movement but rather to influence the public mind of other countries by a thoroughly disciplined organization of reliable persons—preferably persons in positions of responsibility—who can influence and if necessary coerce other and larger groups in the direction of Berlin. An important bloc of the present British government is strongly pro-Fascist and pro-German. It has been successful in preventing British intervention in Spain. How far it has gone was indicated a few days ago when Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, the day after the bombing of the town of Almeria, told the Nazis that Germany "has not a more sincere and more useful (sic) friend in the world than Great Britain."

The Nazi goal in England and America, as in the Balkans, is to influence foreign policy in such a way that these countries will not interfere with Germany's plans to capture the governments of other countries.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

From the Toronto Star

Accepted candidates for Royal Air Force are appointed for four years' service on active list followed by six years in the reserve. They receive pay and allowance in cash or kind equivalent to £325 on entry, increasing to £380 after a year. On passing to the reserve they get £100. Young men of secondary school education are also taken for airmen pilots. Pay and allowance are equivalent to £200 per annum, increasing to £270 when they qualify as pilots. For further particulars apply to the Air Ministry, Adastral House, Kingsway, London.

O LARK

O lark, as to celestial heights
you wing,
And your golden notes of melody
fling.
Sure, it is most astonishing
If the angels can hear you sing;
They do not the gates of heaven
open swing
And bid you, joyous songster,
enter in. G.S.

REASSURANCE FROM A DENTIST

To the Editor:—In your Wednesday issue a correspondent, B. S., is quite worried about dissimiliar metals in the mouths of our population.

This is not 'recent medical discoveries' as the writer says, but it has been common knowledge for many decades. Its connection with cancer can be barely more than theoretical. Most cancer is not in the mouth. When cancer is in the mouth it can be attributed to other things. This does hold good. The victim is usually a chronic smoker or the mouth is one of complete neglect. (I would say that any metals in the form of fittings would have saved the situation, electricity or not), or the patient has some biologic disturbance. Diseased conditions are very common irritations, acidity through failure to observe proper diet is another irritation. By the way, this galvanic disturbance can be avoided many times by correcting the diet to get rid of the acid medium in which the electric action takes place. This can be done in spite of the various metals. It is a long story and ever so often someone drags it up.

I have visited many clinics throughout the land, have worked in hospitals, and I believe I have made enough observations during at least the last 12 years to assure anyone that they need not be panicky if they should have two or more different metals in their mouths.

Dentists would be pleased if it were the law to put only gold in the mouths of people. It is nice material to work with and patients might value their chewing apparatus more and clean it more carefully. Some folks won't have the metal in their mouths because of the appearance. Others cannot afford it. (I admit it is too bad that cost enters the picture.) In other mouths it is not practical.

If we could start the gold era now, perhaps those who were worried a few weeks ago by the price falling, would see the light.

I am sure that your correspondent need not worry about galvanics and cancer in the mouth. There are many other angles to this, but I feel that to worry about getting cancer is worse than the disease itself and it is for the mental relief of those who may read this that I hasten to contradict what "B. S." calls recent research.

ANOTHER NAME FOR IT

From The New York Post

Cuba's dictator, Batista, isn't in any too comfortable a position these days and is on the lookout for diversions. His latest manoeuvre is to launch "a vast programme of organic democracy." We don't know what "organic" democracy means, but we note that he announced his plans in an exclusive interview with Jose Ignacio Rivero, phblisher of El Diario de le Marina in Havana, and that the news dispatches explain that Rivero is "an intimate friend of Batista and of General Francisco Franco." Could it be that "organic" democracy is just another name for——?

GERMANY'S "GREAT MISSION"

To the Editor:—Your editorial "Britain and Germany" includes an extract from the speech given in Berlin by the British Ambassador, Sir Neville Henderson, from which you have omitted a very important statement, viz.: "We fully appreciate Germany's great mission in the world. Guarantee us peace and peaceful evolution in Europe and Germany will find she has no more sincere and, I believe, more useful friend," says Sir Neville; but the statement regarding Germany's "great mission in the world" gives a more sinister twist to this peaceful declaration.

According to Adolf Hitler's own statements the great mission of Nazi Germany is the extermination of the Jew and the Marxist, and peace can only be obtained when Fascism is triumphant, not only in Spain, but in all Europe. Are we, therefore, to interpret the Ambassador's speech as meaning "guarantee us the victory of Fascism in Spain, and Germany will find no better friend than the Nationalist government of Britain?"

INSPIRED "SANTA" EDITORIAL

From Toronto Telegram

The man who was the cause of that famous editorial published in the old New York Sun on September 21, 1897, and entitled "Is There a Santa Claus?" is dead.

He was Dr. Philip F. O'Hanlon, a diagnostician and nerve specialist, who has passed away at 74.

When Dr. O'Hanlon's eight-year-old daughter Virginia, now Mrs. L. V. Douglas (who became a school teacher), asked her father the inevitable question about Santa Claus, he evaded the issue by suggesting that she write a letter to the Sun. The result was the editorial that is reprinted year after year in the Sun, and in dear knows how many other newspapers.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus," the young correspondent was assured. "He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exists, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies!"

WORK OF THE HONEYBEE

From The Literary Digest

To make a single teacupful of honey, 8,500,000 bee-line trips to nectar-bearing flowers must be made. Short-lived, the bee never lives to eat the honey it gathers. It consumes honey stored by a preceding generation; its own honey is bequeathed to generations yet to come—or to invading man.

MATMEN IN COLLISION

Hansen and Managoff Knock Each Other Out in Main Event

Meeting in a head-on collision in mid-ring and knocking each other cold, Ivan Managoff, Chicago, and Billy Hansen, Salt Lake City, brought the main event of Saturday's wrestling card at the Tilicum gym to a thrilling finish. A neck leg strangle gave Managoff the opening fall in the second round and Hansen evened up in the fourth with a flying headlock and body press.

The bout ended in the next round, when the two boys met in an elbow slinging duel and then bounced off the ropes to meet head-on.

In the semi-windup Billy Middlekauf, rugged Florida grappler, won by the odd-fall route over Pete Managoff, Chicago. Middlekauf played the "villain" role and used all the unorthodox tricks. Managoff, cheered on by the fans, retaliated occasionally with a dose of the same treatment.

Harnam Singh, East Indian, and Darna Ostopavitch, Polish wrestler, went five fast rounds to a draw in a cleanly-fought special event, while Pat Morris scored a one-fall win over Jimmy Casey.

QUOITS

Playing at the top of his form J. McMillan Sr. won the weekly handicap played at the Quoiting Club grounds Saturday afternoon, defeating T. Scoular in the final game by the score of 21 to 20.

League games played during the week resulted as follows: T. Alexander 21, D. McCaig 12, J. McMillan Sr. 21, J. McMillan Jr. 12, T. Scoular 21, S. Watt 20 and T. Alexander 21, J. McMillan Jr. 14.

A meeting of the club will be held at the grounds Wednesday night at 8 when arrangements will be made for the quoiting tournament to be held in connection with the Highland games to be staged at Macdonald Park, July 17.

HILLCREST TENNIS

Smashing through a terrific four set battle, Ivan Temple defeated G. Bowden 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5, to capture the men's singles championship as final matches were played at the Hillcrest Tennis Club yesterday.

The women's singles title went to Miss Boyce as she took the measure of Edna Herrin in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5.

Another heated battle took place in the mixed doubles final when Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Butler fought it out in a three set encounter with Miss Boyce and A. Evans to win 6-2, 10-12, 6-3.

ORIENTALS TO ENTER FLOATS

Chinese and Japanese of City Are First to Join August 4 Parade

Chinese and Japanese of the city have been the first to show their public spirit by making entries in the August 4 parade organized by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as part of Victoria's jubilee celebrations.

For their part in the parade, which the junior chamber expects will be the largest ever held in Victoria, the Chinese Freemasons will enter a float which they claim will be a block long. The Japanese have signified they will share the anniversary festivity by entering a float costing at least $1,500.

Both Chinese and Japanese have ordered costumes and material for their floats from the Orient.

Saturday afternoon, with an ox-cart as their conveyance, four members of the junior chamber toured the streets of the city advertising the parade. Tom Watkins, president of the junior chamber; Ernie Harris, Jack Hartree and Tom Sturgess waved signs announcing the parade while the cart meandered through traffic, trailed by a crowd of boys on foot and on bicycles.

Next Saturday the junior chamber plans to have the local Chinese band march along the city streets.

. . . and thousands of Canadian Workers will profit by his purchase

JIM MACDONALD comes beaming into the kitchen where Sally, his wife, has biscuits all ready for the oven. "Well, I did it Mother, I bought the car we looked at last night. Let's hurry through supper and take the kids out before dark."

Jim is bursting with pride in his new possession, and Sally is bursting with pride in Jim. It's a big moment in their lives — it's taken a good deal of planning and saving but they've done it at last, and they're happy. Jim may not know it, but his purchase, like the purchases of countless other Jims, brings happiness to thousands of Canadian homes. It means continued employment, to Canadian automotive workers, steel workers, rubber, paint and textile workers and the men and women in scores of other industries.

So Jim Macdonald is really a big employer of Canadian labour. And a large part of the money he paid for his car will come back to him in his weekly pay because his firm sells goods to many makers of automotive parts. Thus it is that each thriving Canadian industry helps to create prosperity in all other Canadian industries. The Automotive Industries of Canada put millions of dollars into Canadian Workers' pockets each year in wages and through the purchase of Canadian produced supplies and materials.

For Your Information

Automobile Manufacturers and Parts Manufacturers in Canada paid $7,881,614 in 1934 in Federal, Provincial, and Municipal taxes. They paid Canadian transportation systems $5,306,328 in the same year for freight. Substantial increases in these amounts would apply to succeeding years.

George Bucklin Returns to U.S.

George A. Bucklin, former United States consul in Victoria, has retired from the office of American Consul-General to New Zealand, and is back in the United States, according to word received by friends here.

More than 200 persons, including government officials, army and navy officers and representatives of the consular corps attended a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin in Wellington as their three-year stay ended.

Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin and their daughter, Margaret, arrived in San Francisco a few days ago, and are on their way to Lynn Haven, Florida, where they will visit Mrs. Bucklin's mother, who is more than 90 years old.

Mr. Bucklin paid tribute to this city in his letter to friends here. "Although we have added to our knowledge of other countries, I still maintain that Victoria is one of the loveliest places in which to live," he wrote.

Raids by foxes in Scotland are the worst in 30 years, hundreds of lambs being killed or wounded.

Thousands See Rocket Display

Victorians and United States Independence Day visitors thronged the Causeway, Belleville Street and Wharf Street in thousands on Saturday night to witness the spectacular display of fireworks set off as part of the city's 75th anniversary celebrations.

The Vancouver Metropolitan Concert Orchestra, led by Dr. Almond E. Harper, played on the Showboat as a prelude to the pyrotechnic display.

Lights outlining the Parliament Buildings and the Canadian Pacific ticket office, and the colors of the illuminated fountain on Parliament Square added to the effect of the fireworks, and the Ss. Princess Joan was greeted on her arrival from Seattle by the searchlight of a large yacht anchored in the harbor and rains of orange-colored fire across her bows.

A green maple-leaf set piece, a Niagara Falls cascading into the harbor and "Good Night" lettered in orange fire formed the finale of the display, following rockets of every type and color.

Woman Of Japan To Preside

Is Happily Married To Englishman

VANCOUVER—Mrs. Tsune Gauntlett of Tokio, the "little lady from Japan," who, as international president of the Pan-Pacific Women's Association, will preside at the convention here July 12 to 24, has a romantic background.

When a girl and teacher in a Tokio mission school, a young English professor fell in love with her, proposed marriage. She was fond of him but at first the idea was unthinkable to her parents and herself.

A friend, English woman principal of the school, thought it might be a good idea. She knew serious-minded little Tsune was devoted to the ideal of the improvement and advancement of her countrywomen, and expressed the opinion that as the wife of Prof. Gauntlett she then would have wider opportunity to serve this cause.

After several proposals by the persistent swain, Tsune timidly agreed on condition she be allowed to give her leisure time and surplus income to aid her Japanese sisters. He readily agreed.

SIX CHILDREN

Any arguments involving mother countries would be talked over calmly and justly in privacy, the children would be trained in the Christian religion and each when he became of age would choose his own country, they decided. There are six children.

"Occasionally, a stranger will look at them and say, 'So your children are Eurasian'?" said Mrs. Gauntlett. "But we smile and proudly admit it. We have had only joy from our children.

"Obedience to those of superior position, to elders, wives to husbands and children to parents are the foundations of Japanese training. To die for one's emperor, or one's overlord is the highest peak of sacrifice. Everyone dear, father, mother, child, must, if occasion demands it, be sacrificed and death met with a smile. Smiling is taught as an etiquette.

"That is why Japanese, in acknowledging introductions with three little bows are always smiling. 'A good wife and a wise mother' is the highest compliment a Japanese woman can receive.

Of her numerous activities the dearest to her heart is that of international peace, understanding and friendship. She has represented her countrywomen at world peace conferences, such as the Disarmament Conference at Geneva, where she presented a petition signed by 80,000 Japanese women and at another on the Cause and Cure of War, in Washington.

Many Guests At Sidney Wedding

Elizabeth Macdonald And Robin Raymond Wed Saturday

Trinity Church, Sidney, was filled on Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Elizabeth Mary Katherine, eldest daughter of Major A. D. Macdonald and Mrs. Macdonald of Sidney and Mr. Robin McArthur Raymond, only son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Raymond, Trutch Street.

Rev. T. M. Hughes, assisted by Rev. T. R. Lancaster, performed the ceremony, during which the hymn "May the Grace of Christ Our Saviour" was sung. During the signing of the register the organist, Mrs. M. Copithorne, rendered Schubert's "Serenade."

The bride, who was attended by her sisters, the Misses Jean and Catherine Macdonald, entered the church with her father, to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin." She wore a princess frock of ivory satin with a small train, with insets of net on the bodice, and long sleeves tapering to soft cuffs of net, and her lovely veil of Carrickmacross lace was worn beneath a coronet of pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and maidenhair fern, tied with white satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids wore charming frocks of white organza with tight-fitting little jackets with short puff sleeves, and peplums, laced up the front with forget-me-not blue velvet ribbon, and full long skirts. On their heads they wore squares of tulle which came to a point over their brows in Tudor style beneath knots of pink and blue flowers, and they carried bouquets of blue delphiniums, pink larkspur, South African daisies, blue scabious and pink bebe gladioli.

Mr. Aubrey Walls was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Jack Brydon, cousin of the bride; Mr. Cyril Wightman and Mr. Archie Miller.

The choir stalls and chancel were banked with tall baskets of spirea, delphiniums, syringa, foxgloves and Canterbury bells, and deep red roses covered the pulpit and organ. Gilded cornucopias holding bronze snapdragons and blue delphiniums were attached to the pews, and similar containers with varl-colored rambler roses flanked the windows. Mrs. W. C. Merston was responsible for the decorating.

A large number of friends were entertained by Major and Mrs. Macdonald after the service at their home, "Duntulm," where the guests were received in the drawing-room, in another beautiful setting of summer flowers. Mrs. Macdonald wore a smart jacket frock of navy blue silk figured in white, with loose-pleated elbow sleeves, and a deep brimmed Milan straw hat with a navy silk crown, and Mrs. Raymond was in a floral chiffon gown in pastel shades, and wore a black hat trimmed with French flowers, and they both wore corsage bouquets of gardenias.

The bride's table was set in the garden in a bower of tall oaks and flowering spirea, and was centred with a beautifully decorated cake, surmounted with a single lily. Rev. T. M. Hughes proposed the health of the bride.

Refreshments were served from a marquee on the lawn.

As the bride and groom left the house, they passed beneath an arch of pitchforks held by the ushers and mounted a wagon drawn by four horses, headed by a miniature jockey on a pony, and drove through the farm grounds to their motor waiting at the gate.

The bride went away in a brightly printed navy silk frock and a long fitted coat of navy wool, and a smart little open-crowned turban of navy silk and matching accessories.

After their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond will return to Victoria to live.

Weddings

BELL—OLIVE

The wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening at the manse of St. Andrew's, Port Alberni, of Ethel, daughter of Mrs. M. Olive of Port Alberni, and Mr. John A. Bell, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bell of Nanaimo. Rev. A. McLean officiated, and the bridegroom was supported by his brother, Robert.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride chose a Quaker grey tailleure with hyacinth blue blouse and bouquet of rosebuds.

Mrs. M. St. James was her sister's matron of honor. A reception followed the ceremony, at which only relatives and intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Bell left for Victoria for a short holiday and will reside in Port Alberni on their return.

HEARN—WOODWARD

A wedding of interest to pioneer families of the Alberni district took place Monday evening at St. Andrew's United Church, when Ethel Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodward of Alberni, became the bride of Mr. Edward Peter Hearn, also of Alberni. Rev. A. McLean performed the ceremony, and supporting the bridegroom was Mr. Norman Woodward. Given away by her father, the bride was charmingly gowned in turquoise blue silk crepe, with white accessories, her coronet and bouquet composed of white gardenias. Miss Mary Woodward and Miss Rosemary Watson of Vancouver were the attendants, the former in blue and the latter in rose colored crepe, with hair coronets. Both carried posies of lily of the valley, roses and pansies. A reception followed the service held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Woodward, Alberni, where the bride's mother, wearing an ensemble of marine blue and corsage of pink roses, shared the congratulations extended to the young couple. A number of guests from Victoria, Vancouver and up-island attended the ceremony. The honeymoon is being spent at Qualicum Beach, and they will reside in Alberni.

CLARKE—SUTTON

Last Thursday morning an interesting wedding took place at the First United Church when Rev. J. E. Bell united in marriage Phyllis May, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Sutton, and Mr. Ralph L. Clarke of Duncan.

The bride made a charming picture in her traveling suit of navy tricotine, navy off-the-face hat and navy accessories. She carried a shower-bouquet of Ophelia roses, white sweet peas and fern.

Mrs. F. G. Woods was matron of honor and wore navy triple-sheer, with navy picture hat and accessories to match, while her corsage bouquet was of yellow rosebuds and fern. Mr. F. G. Woods supported the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 928 Ellery Street. The bride's table with filet lace cloth, silver vases of pink sweet peas and fern was centred by a lovely three-tiered wedding cake. The decorations were unusual, having been used in 1927 on the golden wedding cake of the bridegroom's parents, Mrs. A. E. Clarke and the late Mr. W. H. Clarke.

Immediately after the reception the bridal couple left by motor to spend their honeymoon in the coast cities. They will make their home in Duncan.

An out-of-town guest at the wedding was Mrs. H. N. Kinnear of Edmonton, a sister of the bridegroom.

The bride has been a member of the teaching staff of Lampson Street School.

O'd Lady Tells Secret of Her Vigor

The writer of the following letter once suffered from rheumatism, headaches, and depression. Then one day a vigorous old lady told her the secret of good health. And now that former sufferer writes to tell others how she obtained relief through Kruschen:—

"Kruschen was recommended to me by an old lady of seventy-two who can dance the Highland Fling — thanks to Kruschen, which she has used for thirty years. She told me to take Kruschen Salts to try and relieve a dull heavy headache from which I suffered nearly every morning on wakening. I was also troubled with rheumatism in both shoulders. Kruschen turned the trick. The headache disappeared and so did the rheumatism. I have continued taking Kruschen and intend to keep it up." —(Mrs.) F.B.W.

Kruschen is a combination of mineral salts which assist in stimulating your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. They ensure internal cleanliness, and thus help to keep the blood-stream pure. Advt.

Home From European Trip

Cora E. Hind Praises Canada's Railways

MONTREAL (CP)—The "almost-universal determination to become self-sufficient" impressed Miss E. Cora Hind of Winnipeg more than anything else on a just-concluded two-year trip around the world in which she visited 27 countries.

Miss Hind, Commercial and Agricultural Editor of The Winnipeg Free Press, said she believed this trend would go on "as long as the war clouds hang over Europe, no matter how uneconomical it may be." It was evident not only in Europe, but also in South America.

The Argentine, she declared, had shown a definite trend toward increasing its wheat acreage. Brazil also had a definite wheat increase programme under way.

On her trip in general Miss Hind said it had left her with "a profound regard for my own country." In particular, she said, she found Canada's railways ahead of those in other countries. "Outside of Great Britain, I touched nothing that approached the Canadian railways for convenience and dispatch."

Her objective on the long trip was to study agricultural and economic conditions, but she kept an eye out for other interesting material. In Rhodesia, among other things, she saw a herd of 50 baboons expelling an aged animal from the tribe.

Roosevelt said he planned to do some fishing in the next few days. The newly-weds were reported as planning to sail for Europe from Montreal, July 10.

Cupid Busy, More Weddings in B.C.

Cupid has been busier than usual this year, according to vital statistics issued by the health department. In May there were 463 marriages solemnized in British Columbia, an increase of 14 per cent over the total of May last year. Figures for June have not yet been compiled, but will also show a considerable increase. Statistics for May give 1,026 births registered against 831 last year, and 603 deaths against 547. Some of the birth registrations are delayed from previous months.

Spectacles may now be worn, if necessary, by certain ratings in the British navy and marines. Of a standardized pattern, these spectacles are supplied by the quartermaster.

Among the subjects studied was the history of flower arrangement, color combinations, design and composition, selection of plant material, the cutting and care of flowers, types of holders and receptacles and their use and the placing of flowers with reference to lighting and background. A short history of china, silver and glass was given during the course. Table arrangements for all occasions were considered.

The class instructor, Miss Kate Frances Ede, and Mrs. Cushing, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., were hostesses. Mr. Kyle gave a talk on the values of beauty in the home.

TRANS-CANADA TELEPHONE

Trans-Canada is the Telephone System which makes it possible for you to talk to any part of the Dominion where telephone service exists.

WHEN the Fathers of Confederation laid their plans, there was no such thing as the telephone . . . If there had been, a single telephone system linking all the provinces might well have been a condition of confederation.

Today, Canada possesses such a system in the coast-to-coast lines of the Trans-Canada Telephone . . . and Canadians everywhere enjoy speedy, unfailing telephone communication with every part of the Dominion.

Trans-Canada rates are lower than ever as the adjoining table shows—lower still after 7 p.m. and all day Sunday. Just ask for or dial "Long Distance".

ROGERS' GOLDEN SYRUP

THE CHEF SAYS:—
"You can't do better than Rogers' Golden Syrup for making golden chews . . . nut brown muffins . . . baked custards, and for those old-fashioned home-made candies."

And he's right, of course. Rogers' Golden Syrup is equally good, too, for the morning pancakes, on golden rich Johnny-cake or as a spread for children's bread.

Delicious, for its own sweet flavor; wholesome because it is made from finest cane sugar; nutritious because it is rich in energy-building elements, Rogers' Golden Syrup wins instant favor with all the family. Ask your grocer for a can today.

SEA FOAM
3 cups sugar — ¾ cup water
½ cup Rogers' Golden Syrup — 2 egg whites
Flavoring
Boil first three ingredients to "soft ball" stage. Let cool slightly, pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites, beat until mixture is smooth, heavy and of "dull" appearance. Add flavoring. Drop from teaspoon on buttered paper.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"I haven't sold much. Most of the tourists who stop are so coarse looking I won't even talk to them."

Feuilleton—

ANDREW and IMOGENE

By ROE FULKERSON

"Andrew, do you know what I am thinking about?" asked Imogene brightly.

"I was just wondering," replied Andrew agreeably.

"Why?"

"Why was I wondering what you were thinking about? I was wondering because your thoughts are always interesting to me!"

"I find them so," admitted Imogene frankly. "Sometimes I wish I could put into words some of the things I think, because if I could, I would be a great writer, or maybe an orator.

"I have a lot of opinions about people and about things, which flit through my mind without actually ever putting themselves into words, and although words come to me easily sometimes, a lot of times I just can't express in words the thoughts I have.

"I know the word 'co-ordinate' as well as I know my own name, but I was talking to Hortense the other day about the way Myrtle sways her body when she is dancing. It was very ungraceful. She looks like a camel on the dance floor because her body and her feet don't work in unison. I was trying to tell Hortense about it, and I couldn't think to say that her body and her feet did not co-ordinate. That is, I thought of it afterwards, but I couldn't think of it at the time.

"It was the same way when I was installed as president of the day nursery. There were a lot of ideas that I had for the organization, but when I stood up to tell the girls about them, I saw Susan Moore with a great big garden hat on at a business meeting which was being held in the morning, and I got to thinking what bad taste she had, and I know I didn't say half the things I wanted to say.

"Andrew, I was fascinated by that hat like a snake fascinates a bird, although I never could understand how a snake could fascinate a bird, because a snake is such a repulsive, wriggly thing that you would think the bird would fly away the moment it saw one.

"If I were a bird, I would fly away. The other day I was sitting on the veranda watching a scarlet tanager in one of the trees, and thinking what fun it must be to have wings and flit around through the tree tops like that, but then I happened to think that if I were a scarlet tanager, I would always have to wear exactly the same kind of clothes, and I know I would never be happy if I had to wear red and black all the time.

"Then, too, if I were a scarlet tanager, I wouldn't wear that beautiful red and black, because I would be a lady scarlet tanager, and her feathers are a sort of dingy yellow, and not at all pretty.

"I have always wondered why it is that in all other animals except man, the male of the species is so much prettier than the female, while in mankind it is the female who has all the beauty. I don't care how handsome a man is, or how homely a woman is, she is beter looking than he is.

"I suppose that is because she has to depend on him for everything she wants, and if she were not much prettier, she wouldn't attract him enough to make him support her.

"I don't know if you ever thought of it, Andrew, but Indian squaws and the women of the savage tribes who have to do all the work while their menfolks just hunt and fish and fight, are all very homely women. If they were pretty, like civilized women, their menfolks would find them so attractive that they would be working for them.

"That reminds me that I had to discharge the Reverend Percy Hamilton who has been taking care of our yard, and hire another colored man. The Reverend Percy made his working day shorter and shorter until he wasn't staying here as much as half a day.

"I wish our minister were more like the Reverend Percy, and would make his sermons shorter and shorter, don't you?"

"I'm not much worried about tha," said Andrew gravely. "I am only worried because you find it so difficult to put your thoughts into words. Do you suppose there is anything we could do about it?"

INCOGS AND ALBIONS WIN

Defeat Victoria and Cowichan in League Cricket Fixtures

Albions and Incogs chalked up victories in a pair of league cricket matches Saturday afternoon. At Beacon Hill Albions came through with a close win over the visiting Cowichan cricketers, 120 to 113, while Incogs measured Victoria Cricket Club for a 131 to 77 defeat at the University School grounds.

There was an exciting finish in the Albions-Cowichan tilt. The visitors had 104 for six wickets and needed but 17 runs to score a win. In the last seven overs, however, only eight runs were tallied and three wickets fell to the bowling of Freeman and Smith.

NATIONAL LEAGUE pitching vs. American League hitting. That is the way the major league all-star baseball game at Washington on Wednesday seems to shape up, basing forecasts on the personnel of the teams as chosen by the managers. This is the first time the entire selections have been made by the pilots and they present some interesting features, as distinct from the line-ups that might have been chosen by the fans.

Many new faces will appear in the battle of the stars this year, as Gabby Hartnett, Lou Gehrig and Charley Gehringer are the only players who have participated in all previous contests. Carl Hubbell, Jimmy Foxx, Vernon Gomez and Bill Dickey are all five-timers, having been selected on previous squads, although not playing in all of the games.

Among those getting an opportunity to break into the line-up for the first time are: Blanton, Walters, Grissom, Lombardi, Mize, Jurges and Gene Moore in the National League, and Stratton, Sewell, Clift, Greenberg, Rolfe, Bell, Moses and Walker in the American League.

Ben Chapman, now with the Boston Red Sox, is the only player missing this year who had participated in all of the previous games.

Analyzing the choices of the managers, it is found that the American Leaguers chose three first basemen among their infielders, but Jimmy Foxx also can play third. Although Gehringer previously had announced that he would not appear in the game, because of his bad leg, he is included in the selections. If Charley does not play, it is likely that Buddy Myer will go to the keystone. There are few surprises among the American Leaguers and it is probable that most of those named also would have been picked by the fans.

The National League, however, turned in some unexpected choices, which, undoubtedly, would not have been made in a public poll. Among them are Walters and Grissom for the pitchers and Gene Moore among the outfielders. The circuit picked two first basemen among its infielders and named no third basemen, Terry evidently figuring on using Bill Jurges at the hot corner, because of his hitting ability.

McCarthy and Terry have made no announcements as to their pitchers, but it is a good guess that the American League will use Gomez, Grove, Harder and Stratton on the mound, while the National League is expected to bank on Hubbell, Dean and Mungo in that order.

The National League can present a strong array of right-handed batters, which may sway McCarthy against his left-handers, but he is not likely to pass up Gomez, and with the form Grove has shown in his last few starts, the Lonaconing Express looks like a certainly to get some work. Harder is a hunch pitcher, who has been unusually effective in previous appearances in All-Star games.

However, it looks as if the National Leaguers have the edge in pitching. Dean, Hubbell and Mungo form a mighty trio that only the acknowledged batting superiority of the American Leaguers could balance. Therefore, it seems to simmer down to a question of which will have the advantage at Washington. Should the National trio be in top form, it is doubtful if the heavy artillery that can be mustered by the opposition will be able to perform up to reputation. Should any of these pitchers, however, run into some tough breaks, or falter, the batting power of the American League will be an important factor, as Bill Terry will be unable to send as many strong hitters into action. As pitching, usually, is the predominating element in a single game, the National League seems to be slightly favored to gain its second triumph in five clashes.

Top Big Field In Open Event With Record 69s

Have Stroke Margin at End of First Qualifying Round at Carnoustie

Sarazen Has 70

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP)—Blond Horton Smith, a demon with putter when he's right, and tall, thin Aubrey Boomer, 40-year-old Briton, who has been a professional in France for a number of years, posted joint 69s over the championship Carnoustie course today to gain a lead in the first qualifying round of the British open golf championship.

Their scores were two under par and lowered Hector Thomson's course record by one stroke.

Smith, out of last week's United States Ryder Cup victory with a lame back, was definitely in putting form on the first nine, where he scored five birdies with putts ranging from nine to 24 feet. Boomer did his best work on the back nine, the 40-year-old veteran picking up two birdies on the homeward journey while playing the other holes in par.

THREE HAVE 70s

Behind Boomer and Smith came three players with course record 70s scored over the shorter neighboring Burnside links, being used only for qualifying rounds. One was Gene Sarazen, the veteran who won the British title in 1932.

The others were young Ernest E. Whitcombe of Great Britain and Pat Mahon of Ireland.

Two Britons turned in sparkling 71s over Carnoustie.

Stanley Stenhouse toured the course in 34-37—71, and W. H. Green turned in an identical count with 35-36.

Among the other invaders well up in the running were Walter Hagen, with a fine 71 at Burnside; Ed Dudley and Tony Manero, with 72s on the same course; Henry Picard, with a 73 at Carnoustie, and U.S. champion Ralph Guldahl with a 74 at Carnoustie.

Denny Shute, United States, P.G.A. champion this year and last, turned Carnoustie in even par 71 on the strength of a last nine 34. Meanwhile Britain's defending champion, Alf Padgham, had left himself in a bad spot with a 78 over Burnside.

Joe Kirkwood, trick-shot specialist, was six over par for his round at Carnoustie with a 77.

REES HAS 73

David Rees, young assistant pro who was the star of the beaten British Ryder Cuppers, finished one under par for the last three holes at Carnoustie for a 34 and 73.

Charley Lacey, British-born pro from Great Neck, N.Y., lost four strokes on the back nine after being all even to the turn at Carnoustie, and finished with a 75.

John Langley, former British boys' champion and member of last year's British Walker Cup team, posted a 72, one over par, at Burnside to take the lead among the amateurs.

Stanley Stenhouse, Yorkshire golfer, turned in one of the day's good performances at Carnoustie, where he posted a 71.

W. H. Green, tall, fair golfer from northeastern England, also shot Carnoustie in 71.

GORGE VALE WINS MATCH

In an interclub match played yesterday at the Gorge Vale Golf Club, the home forces defeated a team from the Victoria Club 23 to 9.

Gorge Vale won the singles 10 to 6 and then captured the fourball matches 13 to 3.

In the feature singles match, Harold Pretty, new Gorge Vale champion, defeated A. S. G. Musgrave and then teamed up with Dick Cox to turn back Musgrave and H. F. Hepburn.

C. FREER IS BEST ANGLER

Lands 22-pound Salmon to Win Second Competition at Brentwood

A 22-pound spring salmon was the largest fish caught among an estimated 400 rod artists who participated in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association's second derby of the season at Brentwood yesterday. It was caught by Charlie Freer, Victoria angler, in the Deep Hole, winning for him the fine first prize split-cane trolling rod.

A strong wind whipped up a rough surface on the inlet waters all day. Some reported it to be one of the roughest competition days ever experienced.

Ray Ritchie won a large wooden reel for landing the second largest fish of the day, 19½ pounds, while Len Andrews with an 18-pounder, took over third position. He got an Indian sweater. Frank "Doc" Smith crashed into the prize list for the first time by hooking a 14-pound specimen to place fourth. He received a Bond planer.

Mrs. G. I. Warren, with a spring salmon weighing 13½ pounds, won the first prize for the women anglers. Mrs. George Smith was runner-up in this class with a 11½-pounder and Roy Smith got the rowboat special prize. Consolation awards went to Mrs. T. W. McPherson, W. Holland and George Smith.

There was a good crowd on hand at the closing ceremonies at the Anchorage where Dr. Hugh Clarke, past president, presented the prizes. Dr. Clarke told the gathering that the next competition will be held on July 18.

Fifty-seven of the competitors weighed in fish.

Victoria and Vancouver Crews Stage Thrilling Race As Regatta Ends

Pulling even in the last 50 yards, the Victoria J.B.A.A. senior eight rowed to a dead heat with the Vancouver Rowing Club crew in the feature event of the final day's programme of the N.P.A.A.O. regatta at Elk Lake on Saturday afternoon. Of the four other events the Bays and V.R.C. gained an even break with two wins apiece, with all the finishes being close. Conditions were perfect, with hardly a ripple on the water.

In the only event Saturday which counted in the aggregate scoring for the regatta championship, which was cinched by the Bays on Friday, Babs Jaggard, Vancouver, defeated Max Winkler, Bays, by a length in the quarter-mile dash for scullers. Jaggard sprinted near the finish to gain the honors. This left the final point standing at J.B.A.A. 18, Vancouver Rowing Club 12.

The senior eights was a thrilling exhibition. The two crews broke even and remained bow to bow all the way down the course. Never at any time was there clear water between the shells. With about 100 yards to go, Vancouver pulled the nose of their shell in front but the Bays boosted their stroke and crossed the line dead even with the mainlanders.

The crews were as follows:

Victoria J.B.A.A.—A. Mann, stroke; C. Usher, 7; D. Davis, 6; J. McDonald, 5; H. Francis, 4; M. Winkler, 3; J. Temple, 2; W. Seatle, bow, and B. Webster, cox.

Vancouver Rowing Club—Butler, stroke; Bishop, 7; Garland, 6; J. Robertson, 5; McGougan, 4; Bayne, 3; W. Robertson, 2; Don Lucas, bow, and K. Jaggard, cox.

Taking to the shell for the second time, the Victoria 140-pound eight marked up a well-merited victory over Vancouver by a quarter of a length. There was nothing to choose between the two boats until the final quarter, when the Bays took command and held their lead despite a gallant effort by Vancouver near the finishing line.

The crews were as follows:

Victoria J.B.A.A.—F. Crouch, stroke; F. Parker, 7; R. Wratten, 6; H. Baker, 5; W. Ross, 4; J. Munsie, 3; L. Patterson, 2; T. Bishop, bow, and B. Webster, cox.

Vancouver Rowing Club—Dickinson, stroke; Darbey, 7; Rush, 6; Jaggard, 5; Ellison, 4; Jones, 3; Gray, 2; Robinson, bow, and K. Jaggard, cox.

LOCAL PAIR WIN

Finishing with half a length margin, R. Munkley and H. Baker, J.B.A.A. won the novice doubles from Don Rush and Bill Hair, Vancouver. The local boys were laying behind for three-quarters of the distance, but closed fast to win.

Vancouver marked up a victory in the novice fours, the crew of L. Morrison, D. Sudgen, Hindle and Atkinson defeating the J.B.A.A. four of M. Harman, J. Mylrea, H. Casilio and F. Mylrea by half a length.

In the evening the annual regatta dance was held at the Palais de Danse, when the many handsome trophies were presented. During the evening the J.B.A.A. oarsmen made a presentation to their coach, Dan Moses, in appreciation of his services during the season.

City Beaten By Two Goal Margin

Victoria Eleven Defeated 4 to 2 By Nationals in Dominion Cup Soccer

VANCOUVER—The way to the British Columbia finals of the Dominion soccer championship cleared for them by their 4 to 2 defeat of Victoria City Saturday, Johnston Nationals today prepared for their match with British Columbia Electric Railway this week-end.

The Nationals were seldom extended by the Victoria team in Saturday's match but were kept from piling up a lopsided score by clever goal tending by Wally Rowe. Leading 2 to 1 at half time, their score was increased by Morley's penalty and a rushing attack by Larson. First half counters were scored by Larson and Liptrot.

In the first half Victoria's Harry Youson combined speed and skill to slam in a goal after Watters had made two one-handed saves. Peter Thoms' long penalty shot in the second half completed the score.

Although Victoria City played more constructive football than their opponents, Nationals were only on their toes twice, during the spurts which netted Victoria their points.

BISLEY RIFLE MEET OPENS

Few Canadians Taking Part in Opening Events Fired Today

BISLEY CAMP, Eng. (CP) — The Coronation Bisley got underway today with military marksmen from all parts of the Empire ready for the two weeks' grind that comes to a close with the final stage of the classic King's Prize on July 17.

Few Canadians shot in today's events, the Queen Mary's prize and B.S.A. match. The sky was cloudy and it was cold, and marksmen were hampered by a wind that changed direction rapidly, keeping the scoring unusually low.

Seven shots were fired at 600 yards in the B.S.A., which ended in a tie between Lieut. F. H. Leckie of the Cameronians, rifleman H. Bradburt of the Rifle Brigade, and C.P.O.C. Figgett of H.M.S. Drake. All three had scores of 33 out of a possible 35. Best of the Canadians was young Pte. Ewing of Montreal with 30. Capt. T. M. Sieniewicz of Halifax, Lieut. Wayne Mackenzie of Ottawa and St. J. Trainor of Toronto had 29; Lieut. S. Johnson of Calgary and Lieut. N. Colville of Vancouver had 26, and Lieut. G. A. Molecey of Vancouver and Sergt. M. F. Dillon of Ottawa 24.

The Queen's was fired under service conditions, calling for deliberate fire at 600 yards, 10 shots firing with movement from 600 to 700 yards, 10 shots rapid fire at 300 yards and 10 shots snapshooting at 300 yards. Lieut. Johnson of Calgary led Canadians at the first mark with 45 out of a possible 50. Ewing and Sieniewicz had 41s and Molecey 38.

Most of the 18 Canadian military sharpshooters were still at the practice ranges today.

Lieut. W. J. Young of the Queen's York Ranges, Toronto, has become attached to the Canadian team and will fire with the Canadians during the two weeks.

ADVANCE IN TITLE BIDS

Advancing in their bids for the men's singles title, J. C. I. Edwards and Marsh Gordon stepped another notch toward the final as play continued in the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club annual tournament Saturday afternoon.

Edwards took R. A. Phillips in straight sets, while Gordon defeated G. E. McCallum in the same fashion. Only two matches were played in the open events.

Results follow:

Men's Open Singles

J. C. I. Edwards won from R. A. Phillips, 6-2, 6-3.

D. M. Gordon won from G. E. McCallum, 6-1, 6-4.

Women's Handicap Singles

P Merriy (+15) won from J. Lifton (+15) 6-0, 6-4.

Men's Handicap Singles

W. Dunbar won from D. H. Angus by default.

A. C. Brand (—40) won from Dr. R. A. Hunter (+15), 6.2, 6-4.

J. Fraser (—15.3) won from R. Bladen (—30), 8-6, 6-2.

Feller Is Ready For Active Duty

Cleveland Youngster Worked Four Innings Yesterday; Yanks Win Again

It was a glorious fourth for a lot of baseball folks, particularly those sporting uniforms of New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs, but you'd have to look a long way today to find a happier lad than Master Robert Feller.

Master Robert was like a kid with his first firecracker. All because that mysterious salary wing of his apparently has stopped acting up, and is now ready to take a regular pitching turn for the Cleveland Indians.

If tradition holds good the Yanks and Cubs will be fighting it out in next fall's world series, since they were leading the pennant parades for the July 4 deadline.

They trotted Feller out as a starter yesterday for the first time since the third day of the season. Although he lost a 3 to 2 decision to the Detroit Tigers, his arm stood the test. He fanned four batsmen, and generally had things in hand.

SOX WIN TWO

Despite the victory, the Tigers dropped to fourth place in the American League, since Boston Red Sox socked Philadelphia Athletics twice, 7 to 6 and 4 to 2, to jump into third place.

The Yankees retained a seven and half game lead in the American League as Lefty Gomez pitched a five-hit shotout against the Washington Senators 7 to 0.

The Cubs split a couple of slugging bouts with the Pittsburgh Pirates, making the first 8 to 5 on three homers, and dropping the nightcap 7 to 6.

After being held to two hits by Van Mungo for six innings, the New York Giants led off for four runs in the eighth and topped Brooklyn Dodgers 6 to 5.

The Chicago White Sox whipped St. Louis Browns twice 4 to 2 and 9 5.

Dizzy Dean pitched a seven hitter and Lon Warneke a four hitter as the Cards clubbed Cincinnati 1 to 0 and 5 to 2.

The Boston Bees boosted themselves into fifth place in the National League with a twin win over the Phillies 14 to 9 and 4 to 2.

Provincial Track Champions Crowned

Duncan Squad Polo Victors

An interesting friendly polo match was played here yesterday afternoon between the Victoria Centaurs Polo Club team, captained by Dr. W. M. Mitchell, and the 62nd Battery team from Duncan, captained by Lance-Sergeant H. Carberry. The Duncan team won 3 to 1 after a close tussle on the local club's grounds on Foul Bay Road.

Names of the winning team are: H. Carberry, capt.; W. Matterson, F. Weston and E. McCull.

COLWOOD WINS OVER SEATTLE

Scores 24 to 16 Victory in Interclub Golf Over Local Links

Securing a lead of eight points in the singles and breaking even in the fourball matches, Colwood golfers defeated a visiting team from the Inglewood Club of Seattle, 24 to 16 in the first half of the annual interclub match at Colwood yesterday.

Colwood won the singles 14 to 6 and then split the foresomes 10 to 10.

In the singles Ken Lawson, B.C. amateur champion, defeated V. Braderson, while Joe Pryke, Colwood pro, scored a victory over Walter Pursey, Seattle pro. In the foursomes Pursey and Braderson took the two points from Lawson and Pryke.

Local Athletes Captured Nine Events at Macdonald Park Saturday

Provincial track and field champions were crowned beneath a warm sun Saturday afternoon as a large field of boy and girl athletes representing the cream of British Columbia's best went through their paces in the annual meet at Macdonald Park, held by the Y.M.C.A. track and field club and sponsored by the City of Victoria Anniversary committee.

Stars of the cinder path from Powell River, Vancouver, the interior, Washington State University, in addition to the heavy local entry, turned in a keen competitive exhibition which was watched by a fair-sized crowd from the grand stand.

WINS 100

Breaking fast from his holes, Pat Haley, versatile young sprinter from Trail headed Paul Rowe of Victoria and Jack Harrison, Vancouver's "flying cop," to the tape in the men's century dash to win in time of 10 1-10 seconds.

The men's B.C. championship furlong sprint saw one of the closest finishes of the day as Paul Rowe came out of the turn in a burst of rhythm to nose out Joe Addison at the finish. Jack Fraser of the Vancouver police took third place. Rowe was clocked at 23 2-5 seconds, fast time for the grass track.

DALE WINS

Bill Dale, one of coach Archie McKinnon's best products, won his specialty, the half mile, with comparative ease over Chuck Cunningham, his team mate, the latter coming back in the mile event to beat out Dale by 20 yards.

George "Porky" Andrews, throwing all of his hefty shoulders and legs into the weight and field nevents, took double-win honors, capturing the broad jump and the javelin throw. Joe Addison, still displaying the form he has always showed through several years of competition, won handily in the 120 yards high hurdles and the quarter mile.

An up-and-coming youngster from Nanaimo, Campbell Williams, although not running for provincial titles, drew a large hand from the crowd in winning the boys' under sixteen and the boys under eighteen 100 yards. His time in each event was 11 seconds flat.

FEATURE RACE

Lacking nothing in that perfect form which put them in the world championship relay class, Karl Schlademan's Washington State star baton men ran a smartly-timed 330 yard dash as the feature event on the afternoon's programme.

Anne Lyster, local Y.M.C.A. track and field club star, scored a double win in the women's open events, taking the furlong dash and the broad jump.

Mayor Andrew McGavin presented the prizes.

Results follow:

100 yards, women—1, Marion Borden, Powell River; 2, Anne Lyster; 3, Barbara McKay. Time: 12 seconds.

100 yards, men—1, Pat Haley, Trail; 2, Paul Rowe, Y.M.C.A., Victoria; 3, Jack Harrison. Time: 10.01

Shot-put—1, Moore; 2 Waters; 3, Andrews.

Distance: 40.54½.

High jump, women—1, Margaret Bell; 2, Darlaine Woodburn; 3 Yvonne Dingley. Height: 4.10 feet.

880 yards, men—1, Bill Dale, Y.M.C.A.,

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

TUESDAY, JULY 6, 1937

Neptune in adverse sway dominates today, according to astrology. It is a day to be cautious in decisions and in investment.

The early morning hours are favorable to persons who are executives and they should make the best use of whatever promises stabilization or systematic progress.

On the high seas there will be conflicts, if the stars are rightly read, and what at first is accidental will lead to serious consequences.

Broken pacts and treaties will disturb world peace in odd ways, for the stars encourage fear and suspicion, lack of faith in human goodness and increase of purely selfish ideals.

As the day advances there may be apparent much uncertainty and apprehension among citizens of the United States who pause in the midst of plenty to vision future need.

Churches of divergent faiths will gain followers through the summer, owing to a strengthening of policies affecting public affairs of worldwide importance.

Girls may count on weeks of pleasant association with young men, many of whom will be ardent suitors. Autumn weddings will be numerous. The stars encourage the prevalence of love affairs, which the seers declare always precedes war or upheavals in world affairs.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of average good fortune, but there may be domestic perplexities. Secrets will be guarded by the young.

Children born on this day may be independent in thought, fond of whatever is mysterious, and able leaders.

Cecil Rhodes, South African statesman and financier, was born on this day, 1853. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include John Huss, Bohemian religious reformer, 1369; Alonso Potter, Protestant Episcopal bishop, 1800; John Paul Jones, naval officer, 1747.

Spencers Club To Hold Picnic

Fifth annual picnic of Spencer's Sports and Social Club will be held on Wednesday at Shawnigan Lake. A fine sports programme has been arranged with a dance to wind up the affair in the evening.

Holders of the Victoria Cross, the Albert Medal in gold and the Edward Medal in silver were provided with free Coronation parade seats in London.

Uncle Ray

Fireworks

When I was about 12 years old, I went to a picnic given by a church. In the evening, there was to be a fireworks display, and of course I was looking forward to the event.

A Fireworks Display

The pastor, himself, was in charge of the fireworks, and at last he told the crowd that the display would begin. Just how it happened, I never found out, but the fuse of a pinwheel or some other object was set off in the wrong place. In a moment, rockets began to explode, and sizzle off in one direction or another. The pastor and his helpers ran from the scene as fast as they could, and the people in the crowd either ran or got behind the benches on which they had been seated.

The whole mass of fireworks soon was exploding—flower pots and pinwheels were sending out sparks, Roman candles and sky rockets were shooting at many angles. I was able to obtain only a few glimpses of it all, for I was busy getting to a safe place. The whole "celebration" was over in a minute or two, perhaps $25 worth of fireworks having gone to blazes.

By some strange good fortune, no one was hurt, but I feel sure that everyone there learned a lesson. Fireworks must be handled with great care. One little spark in the wrong place can start a whole train of explosions. Nowadays we have public displays which are handled by experts, and we watch them with a feeling of safety. It is possible for an accident to happen at a public display, but it's very seldom does.

The art of making fireworks was learned by the Chinese 3,000 years ago or more. They still use them, especially to celebrate Chinese New Year. The olden Roman emperors also gave fireworks displays with "colored lights, fountains and wheels of fire."

For hundreds of years, people in France, Great Britain and other countries of western Europe have been treated to fireworks displays. Often they have been given at the time a king was crowned. Beautiful displays were provided by British war vessels when King George VI was crowned.

Saltpeter, sulphur, gunpowder, charcoal and iron filings are among the things used in making various kinds of fireworks. Special substances are put in to supply red, yellow, green, blue and other colors.

Good use is sometimes made of fireworks to help airplane pilots when they make a forced landing at night. "Parachute flares" are dropped, and they burn for several minutes, lighting up a good-sized area and giving the pilot a better chance of landing safely.

"Queer" Gifts as Wedding Presents

Dorothy Dix

More Valuable Than Gold

THESE ARE THE DAYS when it seems as if all the nice boys and girls we know are getting married, and when we are haunting the shops trying to find some gift to send them that will be a token of our affection and not the ninety-ninth duplicate of something that ninety-eight other bewildered friends have bestowed upon them.

Of course, we all end up by giving them the traditional silver or glass or china wedding present, but how often we wish that instead of loading them down with another dozen spoons for which they have no use, or a clock that is just exactly like the one Aunt Susie sent them, or the bric-a-brac that they will hide in the darkest corner of the top shelf of the hall closet, that we could endow them with a few intangible things that would be worth more to them that is ever sold over a counter, and that would be a comfort and a blessing to them as long as they live!

Suppose, for instance, we could send John and Mary, with our best wishes for a happy marriage, a large supply of Common Sense. Wouldn't that be more valuable to them than a set of hand-painted dinner plates? And more needed? For common sense is a commodity that a bridal couple rarely possesses, yet it is the one thing that a boy and girl starting out to live together need more than anything else on earth.

For, if they had good, hard, horse sense, they wouldn't expect too much of marriage, or too much of each other, or even too much of themselves. They would take marriage on the chin instead of whining over it and throwing up their hands and quitting when things got rough. They would accept each other "as is" instead of trying to make each other over. And they would make the best of their bargain and get a lot of happiness and content out of marriage.

Suppose you could send Sam and Isabel an exhaustless amount of Patience. Wouldn't that fill a long-felt want in any bridal flat or bungalow and do more to make it comfortable than if you piled Persian rugs on the floor and filled it with down-stuffed divans? Just think how much friction, how many quarrels, how many heartaches, how many estrangements and divorces would be saved if a young husband and wife could be patient with each other's faults and peculiarities, and just wait until they had time to adjust themselves to each other and learn how to keep from stepping on each other's toes.

And just suppose that on their wedding day we could give Tom and Martha Understanding. It would be far better for them to be given the key to each other's hearts and souls than to be given the key to a new home. Half of the matrimonial misery is caused by husbands and wives never really getting acquainted, never coming to know each other or to see beyond the surface of each other's natures.

That is honeymoon stuff and it vanishes with the honeymoon. In real life there is nothing that rankles so in marriage as injustice, and nothing that makes men and women jump the bars so often as the knowledge that they are virtual prisoners. It would save a lot of bitterness, or a scandal and divorce, if a young couple would start out by playing the game fairly and squarely with each other, and if they would grant each other the privilege of being individuals as well as husbands and wives.

And finally, and above all, the most precious gift that could be made to a bridal couple would be a Can of Soft Soap, with instructions on how to use it without stint in greasing the domestic wheels. There would never be a creak if the young husband told his wife every day how beautiful she was and how much he loved her, and if the wife got out the lubricant and plastered it over her lord and master. What a pity that we can't give bridal presents that are really worth while.

IMPRESSED BY EMPIRE UNITY

Lieutenant-Governor Back From Coronation Ceremonies in England

Profoundly impressed by the demonstration of imperial unity and goodwill among the Dominions manifest during the Coronation ceremonies, from which he has just returned, Hon. Eric W. Hamber resumed his duties as British Columbia's Lieutenant-Governor today.

During his visit to England, crowded as it was with various functions at which he represented the province, His Honor had some time to observe the industrial recovery manifest in that country.

"As far as I could observe, industrial conditions appeared very good. There is a tremendous amount of building being carried on, especially in the districts surrounding London. Conditions generally seemed to be improving," His Honor said.

"I noticed a great deal of interest in Canadian products, not only in London, but in other outside towns. Interest in this province generally was keen, both from a standpoint of development and as a country in which to live upon retirement."

During all ceremonies in connection with the Coronation, the King and Queen, together with Queen Mary and other members of the Royal Family, took prominent parts and were received everywhere with warm acclaim, His Honor said.

DISPLAY OF UNITY

The Coronation and other ceremonies served as a marvelous display of the solidarity and unity of the British peoples and their loyalty to the throne.

His Honor was particularly impressed by the gatherings of Canadians at special events held for them in and around London during his visit. At the Canada Club Coronation dinner in the Savoy Hotel the assembly was addressed by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, Hon. Ernest Lapointe and Hon. Vincent Massey. Canadians from all parts of the world were assembled and enjoyed the pleasure of renewing acquaintanceships.

The passenger list on Ss. Empress of Australia, on which His Honor and his party sailed for England, resembled a Canadian Who's Who, His Honor stated. In addition to the Prime Minister and members of his cabinet, the ship carried the lieutenant-governors of Ontario, Quebec, Prince Edward Island and other provinces. Among the passengers were legal, industrial and medical leaders of the Dominion.

The Coronation itself was generally regarded as the most gigantic event of modern times, perfectly organized and conducted throughout with the utmost precision. London was overflowing with visitors and hotel accommodation was taxed to the limit. For several days after the ceremony itself, certain sections of the metropolis were closed to traffic to allow vast throngs of pedestrians to wander through the streets to enjoy the magnificence of the Coronation decorations.

ATTEND BANQUET

Among the functions at which His Honor and Mrs. Hamber were present were the state banquet at Buckingham Palace the day following the Coronation, and the investiture of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem which members of the Royal Family attended.

His Honor also enjoyed the military tournament in Olympia, the Horse Show in the same building and the Aldershot Tattoo.

In the industrial field His Honor took part in the reception of the British Empire Producers' Association in London, at which industrial leaders from all parts of the Empire met, discussed common problems and laid foundations for greater imperial business through a better understanding of one another's needs and products.

After his exceptionally busy visit to England, His Honor expressed his pleasure at being back in Victoria.

MILITIA CAMP COMES TO END

Majority of Units Return Home From Sidney; Two Move to Heals

Sunburned and mosquito bitten, the majority of the 1,200 members of the militia who went into camp at Sidney last Wednesday night are back at their jobs in Victoria and on the lower mainland today.

The camp broke up last night after a period of training more intensive than any for several years. The majority of the Victoria contingent got back to town during the late afternoon and evening. The Vancouver troops came into Victoria and left on the regular afternoon boat for the mainland.

Two units, however, are still under canvas, having moved from one hot and dusty encampment to another. The Second Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, from up-island points, and the Westminster Regiment, New Westminster, both of which became machine gun battalions under the army reorganization at the beginning of the year, have moved from Sidney to Heals' Range, where they will spend six days in live firing.

Victoria was represented at the camp by the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish, the 13th Field Ambulance, R.C.A.M.C., and the Sixth Divisional R.C.A.S.C.

Teachers Start Summer Sessions

Record Student Body Hears Addresses of Welcome; Weir Answers Critics

Between 700 and 800 teachers, the largest enrolment in the history of the institution, opened their summer school courses at Victoria High School today with official welcomes by Mayor Andrew McGavin, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, and School Trustee P. E. George.

The invocation was led by Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie.

The mayor in greeting the student-teachers contrasted present trends in the educational world with those of previous days. He wondered, in view of the continued change, if education would ever reach a stable condition. Mayor McGavin reminded the assembly of Victoria's celebration of its seventy-fifth anniversary of incorporation and invited the teachers to participate in the various functions arranged for the commemoration of the jubilee.

ANSWERS CRITICS

Speaking mainly on the new curriculum, Dr. Weir answered criticism leveled at the system. He referred to the divergent nature of the criticisms, many of which were diametrically opposed. He spoke of the mayor's query regarding the possibility of a stable system of education. Dr. Weir hoped such a condition would never prevail. Education, he said, had to change constantly to meet the needs of a continually changing world. He remarked upon the value of refresher courses for teachers and emphasized the necessity of creating in them an open mind. The minister paid a tribute to the teachers for their co-operation in the organization of the new curriculum, which, he said, was not yet definite. He asked them to present a symposium at the close of their present courses outlining advantages and deficiencies they considered most apparent under the plan.

Trustee George said the city School Board was willing to co-operate with the school in the advancement of education.

Announcements were made by Harold L. Campbell, director of the school, who acted as chairman during the opening exercises.

Seattle Star Is Not Publishing

Only Watchmen in Building As Guild Pickets Stand in Street

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle Star was closed and the building vacant, except for a few watchmen today, when a picket line of 50 or 60 American Newspaper Guild strike sympathizers prevented even Rod L. Brink, managing editor, entering the structure.

The night crew of printers went off shift at 2 a.m., and the day crew met a strong picket line.

From The Star management came a statement explaining "the Newspaper Guild and the Teamsters' Union are quarreling over a jurisdictional issue in The Star's plant" involving circulation employees.

"The Star does not care what union transports its papers," the statement added. "There is no dispute over hours, wages, working conditions or other union matters. There is no dispute over the right to work or the right to strike, as far as The Star is concerned. We are vitally concerned over the right to publish a newspaper, and will proceed as we may to continue our publication."

Straith Margin Cut By Count

With 83 out of 89 ballot boxes counted this morning, completing the check of the ordinary vote in six of the seven city wards, the end of the official count in the provincial election in Victoria was in sight today.

The margin of Alderman W. T. Straith, Liberal, over B. A. McKelvie, Conservative, for the last elected position, was reduced by eight votes up to this morning. Mr. Straith had an 81 margin on the first count.

This will be a long job and involves checking affidavits sworn by out-of-town voters. The final result may be available late on Thursday or Friday.

In the official count of Ward Six Alderman Straith dropped two votes from the first figures and Mr. McKelvie gained five.

Captain Tells Of Wanderings

Crew of Yawl Te Rapunga Are Entertained By Gyro Club

The Gyro Club entertained three vagabonds at their weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel today.

Captain Georg Dibbern, who has wandered the seas in his yawl Te Rapunga for the last seven years, introduced his two "mates," Miss Eileen Morris and Roy Murdock, who had journeyed with him on his recent voyage from New Zealand to Victoria.

Using his hands as well as his tongue and expressive eyes, Captain Dibbern delighted the members of the club with stories of his travels.

Born in Germany he went to sea when he was 16, the captain said. He signed off in Australia, "did this and that" and finally found himself in New Zealand when the Great War began. He had almost forgotten that he was a German, but in 1918, at the height of the war fever, he was thrown into an internment camp.

After the war he returned to Germany, but found he was no longer a German. Due to an accident he found himself owning a yawl and determined to get back to New Zealand.

In 1930 he started off with two "passengers." He crossed to England where one of his "passengers," rather than face the dangers of the Bay of Biscay, got married.

MARRIAGE MENACE

"Marriage was the greatest menace," Captain Dibbern said. "I lost two of my mates through marriage."

"Never read sailing directions," he warned, "otherwise you'll never go out. Read them when you get into port and see what storms you met."

For 40 hours they battled a storm in the Bay of Biscay. Capt. Dibbern thought that the Hawaiians must have learned the hula from being in a small boat on a rough sea.

In 1932 the Te Rapunga crossed the Atlantic in 35 days. After passing the Panama they were becalmed in stifling heat or frightened by electric storms.

"The thunder is the thing that frightens you." Well I use to say to myself, "if I hear the thunder I'm not struck, but if I am struck I won't hear the thunder," Capt. Dibbern said.

After a trip of 101 days they hit San Francisco. From there to Honolulu, Samoa, and at last the captain reached his destination, New Zealand.

Harold Butteris introduced the captain. Angus McIntyre, president, was in the chair.

W. H. Hudson reported that there was no chance to hold the Gyro International Convention in Victoria in 1939.

ENGINEERING LEADER HERE

Brig.-Gen. M. Mowat, Secretary of Famous Institution, Visits City

Brigadier-General Magnus Mowat, C.B.E., London, secretary of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers, largest corporate body of its type in the world, arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday after attending the semi-centennial congress of the Engineering Institute of Canada in Montreal.

During the congress he read a paper on the work of engineering institutes throughout the world, and presented a special address on behalf of the British organization.

General Mowat was director of roads and bridges for the United Kingdom until he took over the secretaryship of the institute, which has more than 12,000 members scattered over every continent.

He came here to visit friends. It is his first trip to Victoria, although he has traveled extensively in the United States and eastern Canada.

Farming ranks almost equal to engineering in the interests of General Mowat, and he has found much to study in this regard during his trip across Canada. While in Ottawa he made a thorough visit to the Dominion experimental farm there, and was interested in the prairies and their drought problems.

Brig.-General Mowat will leave tomorrow for Montreal, bound for England.

JEROME EPIC IS AT PLAZA

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back" Opens Here Today

"If only there was one decent person in the world, but there isn't," is the bitter lament of Stasia, the maid-of-all-work and general drudge in the Belle Vue boarding house, and then the Stranger came and rented the only empty room—the third floor back—and she not only found there was one decent person in the world, but some good to be found in even good for nothings.

The Stranger is the fascinating character portrayed by Conrad Veidt in the GB production of Jerome K. Jerome's famous story, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." It is the feature attraction today at the Plaza Theatre.

On the same programme is "Jailbird," starring Craig Reynolds and June Travis.

STAGE COACH HOLD-UP SEEN

"Trailin' West" Presents Dick Foran in Thriller at Columbia

Back in the wild western days when the holding up of stage coaches was a recognized outdoor sport, it took hardy desperadoes about three minutes to shoot up a coach.

The same act today takes approximately six hours. This was discovered by a Warner Bros.' location unit shooting a stage coach hold-up sequence for "Trailin' West," the new Dick Foran thriller which comes to the Columbia Theatre today.

The second feature offers Dick Purcell and June Travis in "Men In Exile."

INDIAN LAD IN FILM AT ATLAS

Son of Mahout Is Star of "Elephant Boy"

A 13-year-old Indian lad is the star of Alexander Korda's latest production "Elephant Boy," which is at the Atlas Theatre today.

The boy is known as Sabu, and his discovery is as romantic as any film story. He is an orphan. His father, a mahout, was killed in the service of the Maharajah of Mysore. Until found by the film people last year, Sabu used to live in the Maharajah's elephant stables. He received a pension of two rupees a month and a handful of rice each day. Now he lives in London with his own private tutor (a gentleman bearing the name Heggadevankote Subbarao Nanjundian) and draws an annual salary which is said to run into four figures.

"Woman I Love" Human Drama

Marking a radical departure from previous aviation pictures of the World War, RKO Radio's "The Woman I Love," coming to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow, emphasizes human drama rather than action drama and thereby achieves a real novelty in film annals, according to Anatole Litvak, noted director who handled the picture.

"Most photoplays of the air forces have used a thin thread of story on which to hang a series of spectacular aerial scenes," Litvak says. "As a result, the characters were almost puppets, and the principal interest of the picture lay in the action scenes themselves.

Seek Body Of Bridge Victim

NELSON, B.C.—Police today continued to search the Kootenay River for the body of Lawrence Caronni, 10-year-old boy from Taghum, near here, who plunged from Taghum Highway Bridge Friday.

According to police the boy had stopped to watch repair work being done on the bridge, and fell from a section where the guard rail had not been replaced when he attempted to remount his bicycle.

Annual Stampede Opens in Calgary

CALGARY—Back to frontier days, Calgary's annual Stampede, with its colorful pageant of Indian and range life, was opened today.

Headed by scarlet-coated Royal Canadian Mounted Police, a week of frontier days opened with a street parade, with cheering cowboys and silent Indians, dressed in their finest beads and buckskin.

Chiefs from the Alberta Indian reservations led the Indian section, including stately old Duck Chief of the Blackfoot tribe, accompanied by Chief One Gun and Chief Turned Up Nose.

Later in the week Baron Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and his party, now en route west, will be visitors to the Stampede. The Governor-General will arrive here Friday.

M-G-M Feature At the Capitol

When William Joyce Cowen write the novel "They Gave him a Gun," he drew up an indictment against war.

But when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer bought the story, it was with the intention to make a picture that would entertain people and if it carried any message, they, themselves, would interpret it. The picture will open at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

This picture reflects the man, Spencer Tracy, whose remarkable performances in four successive hit pictures have amazed the picture public, is the hero.

Gladys George is the Red Cross nurse with whom he falls in love and Franchot Tone portrays the small-town bookkeeper, a weakling, to whom they gave a gun and a uniform.

Aranda Total Loss in East

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S.—The salt-laden freighter Aranda, stranded near Cape North, at the northernmost tip of Nova Scotia, is a total loss, according to the opinion of an insurance adjuster who completed investigation of the ship.

The vessel's keel was broken, a hole had been stove in her No. 2 hold and she was flooded, the investigation showed. The Aranda, which ran aground in a fog last Wednesday, was held fast on the rocks, broadside to the shore. The 895-ton steamship's crew of 11 escaped to shore.

Loss of the ship and her cargo was estimated at approximately $90,000.

H.M.C.S. Fraser To Pay Seattle Visit

Back From Comox Today, Destroyer Will Go to Sound July 23

With her return H.M.C.S. Fraser this afternoon to Esquimalt from Comox, where she has been engaged in rifle practice, H.M.C.S. Fraser, Commander H. B. Reid, R.C.N.R., will prepare to sail for Seattle, Friday, July 23, to participate in the international cruiser race, it was announced today at the Esquimalt dockyard.

Under the plans as outlined, Canada will not be represented at Seattle during Fleet Week, July 10 to 18.

Vanguard of the U.S. fleet to arrive in Elliott Bay for fleet week are the cruiser Indianapolis and the aircraft carried Saratoga.

Altogether there will be 27 warships on Puget Sound and it is expected that many of them will be sighted off Victoria while the fleet is engaged in manoeuvres.

The big event of the week will be the naval parade through Seattle streets on Tuesday, July 13.

Seven in Plane Saved By Farmers

THURSO, Scotland—Two Scottish farmers today were credited with saving the lives of seven passengers and the pilot of a British airliner that crashed in flames at Clerendon airport.

Mrs. Minnie Sinclair of Hamilton, Ont., was one of five occupants of the plane who escaped uninjured. Mrs. J. Murray and Mrs. M. Banks of Orkney and Mrs. Towers of Aberdeen — the other three occupants—were admitted to hospital with slight injuries.

John Green and his elderly father were working in a field near the airport when the plane crashed within 20 yards of them on Saturday, shortly after taking off for Aberdeen.

"We sprang aside as the plane crashed," Green said.

"My father seized the door of the cabin and wrenched it off. I opened an emergency exit in the roof and pulled out a young woman. We could hear the women crying for help as the flames licked the sides of the cabin.

Meanwhile people from the landing field ran up to assist us. The last woman dragged from the cabin had her clothes on fire. Shortly after the last passenger had been pulled out the whole cabin was ablaze."

Train Stalled By Elephant

WINNIPEG — Jim Leighton conductor, and his train crew in charge of the big Yellow Circus train about to leave Canadian Pacific Railway terminals at Winnipeg for a western circuit, Sunday, met with defeat when they tried to "put the air through the train." Nothing happened; the air brakes refused to function. Airman Frank Hrabi, opening and testing the air valves, found them closing automatically. Loath to leave verdant Manitoba, Billy, the big elephant of the shows, was found consistently pulling the conductor's signal cord thereby applying the air brakes to stop the train. Only by wiring the cord out of reach was the crew able to loose the train from its moorings.

New Season Highs On Winnipeg Market

WINNIPEG — All wheat futures made new seasonal highs on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and then eased to levels around the previous close. With the United States markets on holiday, wheat trade was almost entirely confined to commission house operations and at the close values were unchanged to ⅜ cent lower, July at $1.48⅝, October $1.39⅝ to $1.39¾ and December $1.36⅝ to $1.36½.

Only two of the course grains failed to establish new seasonal highs in the irregular session that witnessed dull trading after mid-session.

Oats futures followed wheat that were fractionally under the previous close in late trading. Short covering in July barley and July rye sent those prices up 2 and 4⅝ cents respectively at top levels.

July wheat reached $1.51½, just ⅛ of a cent from the highest price of any wheat future in seven years. Highest prices came in the first hour with support coming from Canadian and United States millers, export interest and investment purchases.

Export business was confined to odd lots.

Although trade lagged at the start in sympathy with disappointing Liverpool cables, lower than due, wheat rallied sharply on liberal commission house buying induced by unfavorable crop conditions in western Canada.

Liverpool closed ⅜d to ½ higher after dropping nearly threepence from opening quotations.

Buenos Aires at noon was ⅜ cent down.

Demand for Nos. 1 hard and 1 northern continued in cash wheat with Canadian and U.S. mills taking small amounts at improved spread.
